MILLER FISSELL APPOINTED CITY TRAFFIC OFFICER

Deputy Sheriff To Leave County Position To Take Newly-Created Post

30-DAY NOTICE ISSUED

Herrmann Announced Choice; Council Provides For Seventh Person

Miller Fissell, 317 East Mound Street, was appointed Wednesday evening by Safety Director Karl J. Herrmann as the seventh member of the Circleville police department with traffic as his assignment. Fissell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fissell, is serving now as a deputy sheriff under Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, a position he has held since Radcliff took office January 5, 1931. Prior to that date the appointee had served with Frank Davis when he was sheriff.

Mr. Fissell will begin his new work about January 15, Sheriff Radcliff having received a 30-day notice shortly after the appointment was announced by Mr. Herrmann. The sheriff said that he had not decided who would replace Fissell in his department.

Appointment of the new officer climaxes an effort started over a year ago by Mayor W. B. Cady and members of his official family to have council vote an ordinance to provide a seventh officer who could be assigned to traffic duty. The ordinance was defeated the first time it was voted on, it lost on a technicality the second time it was sent into council, and the third time was successful, receiving four votes out of the seven cast.

Record Outstanding
Deputy Fissell has been an outstanding officer, devoting much time and money to the study of scientific detection of crime.

The notice of appointment handed to him by Mr. Herrmann read: "On November 15 the Council of the City of Circleville passed Ordinance No. 2036 instructing the Director of Public Safety to appoint an additional patrolman to the Police Department of the City of Circleville, whose specific duty shall be to patrol the streets of Circleville on motorcycle or motor car during the day time for the purpose of regulating and controlling traffic."

"Since you have had years of experience along this line of duty and being certified as eligible for appointment by the Civil Service Commission, you are hereby notified of your appointment to this position, effective, January 1, 1940.

"You shall therefore report for duty at that time and as (Continued on Page Eight)

COON HUNTING SEASON TO END 14 DAYS EARLY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14 — The coon hunting season today had been cut 14 days by the Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission to prevent threatened depletion of the state's stock of coons.

The season, which opened November 15 and was to close January 15, will be ended January 1 instead, the commission ruled. Further purchase of western rabbits for restocking purposes was deferred by the commission which also voted to discontinue distribution of pheasant eggs to conservation and sportsmen's organizations. Instead, three-week-old chicks will be distributed.

TANKER GROUNDS IN MISSISSIPPI AT BATON ROUGE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 14 — The "British Officer," an English tanker of 6,990 gross tons, ran aground in the Mississippi River south of Baton Rouge today following a collision, reports reaching steamship offices in New Orleans said.

No details of the collision or extent of damages were available. Ross & Heyn, Inc., agents for the vessel, earlier had refused to name the ship, which had loaded with oil from the Standard Oil Co., docks in Baton Rouge and had sailed this morning. The British consul in New Orleans confirmed reports of the collision, and gave the name of the tanker as the "British Officer."

Harvey Wright, 47, of near Williamsport, arrested Monday by Chillicothe police on a charge of reckless driving, has been fined $100 and costs and sentenced to a month in jail by Mayor Harold H. Brown.

Police charged he failed to stop at a street intersection and his car collided with a parked auto. Mayor Brown has instructed police to tighten up on enforcement of traffic laws and he intends to be more severe with fines for violators.

Capital Claims Red Attempt To Split Country Fails Before Defenders

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 14—Aiming at the Murmansk railroad, indispensable link in the Red army's supply system, Finnish troops have smashed across the Soviet frontier above the major battleground of Tolvaajarvi, Finnish quarters asserted today. Persistent rumors meanwhile said the 8,500-ton Russian cruiser

HELSINKI FINN CAPITAL
Editor's Note: In order to expedite handling of news reports from Finland, The Daily Herald henceforth will use the native spelling of Helsinki for the Finnish capital. The city has two spellings, Helsinki and Helsingfors, the former being preferred.

Kirov, one of the Soviets' largest and newest warships, sank after it was towed into the port of Tallin, Estonia, following a naval battle off Finland's South Coast a fortnight ago.

The submerged wreck is now marked by a light buoy, the report said. Finland's advance towards the Russian railroad on the East is still going on, Helsinki heard. The railroad reaches from Leninograd past the White Sea to Murmansk on the Arctic Ocean.

The line, therefore, is essential to supply Soviet troops operating on the Arctic Front as well as all along the eastern frontier of Finland. At one point on Omega Lake the road is only 45 miles from the Finnish frontier.

Russians Move Ahead
But on the North Front, in spite of the handicap of the Arctic night, the Russians pushed steadily on after the slowly retreating Finns. Salmijarvi, nickel mining center, was bombed from the air, but the Russians inflicted no damage of importance. Wreckage of a Russian bombing plane was found in the Esbo forest along the South Coast.

Finnish authorities charged that Russian bombers tried to attack a farmhouse filled with evacuees from the nearby town of Ekenaes, but none was hurt. To the North of Talvaajarvi, (Continued on Page Eight)

Robber, Escaping With Aged Widow's Purse, Kills Victim With Car

CHICAGO, Dec. 14—Aroused by one of the most callous crimes in Chicago police annals, citizens aided authorities today in an intensive hunt for a purse-snatcher who deliberately ran down his victim, a 64-year-old widow on relief, with his automobile and killed her.

At least two men witnessed the murder and gave a detailed description of the death car, which later was found abandoned. Police took fingerprints from the car to aid them in their efforts to trace the killer or killers. It was not known whether more than one man was in the car.

As the crime was reconstructed at the inquest, which was continued until next month, the victim, Mrs. Ricka Thompson, tried to stop the thief after he had taken her purse, containing a few dollars given her a short time earlier by her pastor. The man apparently drove into a blind alley, and when he turned his car around, Mrs. Thompson blocked the alley exit, screaming at him to stop.

Instead of stopping the driver put on speed, witnesses said, and when Mrs. Thompson jumped to one side he swerved his car and struck her. She was carried on the bumper 70 feet before being thrown off and run over.

CHILD ROUTS PROWLER FROM CINCINNATI HOME

CINCINNATI, Dec. 14 — Plucky, 12-year-old Barbara Finch was hailed as a hero by her classmates today because she routed with her bare fists a burglar who had attacked her sick mother.

Mrs. Mary Finch, 47, suffered face lacerations and a possible fractured nose when the burglar beat her with a toy glass pistol. Attracted by her mother's moans, Barbara rushed into the room and struck the prowler, who first attempted to choke the child and then fled before her determined assault. Barbara received a scratch on her face.

LEAGUE EXPELS SOVIET RUSSIA

Reds Termed Aggressors; Action Marks First Of Nature

GENEVA, Dec. 14—Soviet Russia today was expelled from the League of Nations for her invasion of Finland.

The expulsion was carried through under Article XVI of the League Covenant, when the council, with a few abstentions, approved a resolution previously passed by the assembly ejecting Soviet Russia from the organization as an aggressor state.

Finland, China, Yugoslavia and Greece abstained from the vote of expulsion—which marked the first time in the history of the League that the august assemblage had seen fit to expel one of its members.

STATE'S MOVE TO CHANGE PIKE TRIAL SCENE STUDIED

WAVERLY, Dec. 14 — Common Pleas Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, today had under advisement a motion by Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert for a change of venue from Pike County in the trial of Probate Judge Will H. Acord on charges of election irregularities.

Judge Wolf informed Herbert's office that it would take at least 10 days for him to study the law on the matter and make a decision. Judge Acord was one of 15 persons cited by Herbert in connection with alleged election irregularities in Pike County.

In support of his claim for a "fair trial," Assistant Attorney General Simon S. Leis told the court that he had affidavits from 42 persons who contended that one could not be obtained in Pike County.

The attorney general's office contends that several prospective jurors are either relatives or employees of persons who are scheduled to go on trial.

ENTIRE RUMANIAN TOWN STRIKEN AS GAS TANKS BREAK

BERLIN, Dec. 14—Scores—perhaps hundreds—of persons were feared to have died today when several tanks of chlorine exploded in a cellulose factory at Zarnesch near Kronstadt, Transylvania.

A German news agency dispatch from Bucharest, Rumania, reporting the blast, said the factory had been manufacturing gas on a 24-hour basis.

The entire village, said DNB, was gassed, and troops were called out to reinforce fire brigades in the entire Kronstadt district. It was feared, the report added, that a great number of the village's inhabitants and all the livestock had been killed. Rescue work was described as extremely perilous because of the deadly fumes. Cause of the explosion was not known, said the report, which added that "recent sabotage acts in Rumanian oil territories were recalled."

YOUTHS NABBED TO FACE HOLDUP, KIDNAP CHARGES

FINDLAY, Dec. 14—Charged with two robberies and a kidnapping in northwestern Ohio and a holdup shooting in Cincinnati, two youths were held in Findlay under $12,000 bonds today. They were captured last night near Kenton by state highway patrolmen.

A dragnet was set up to effect their capture after a third youth, Tony LaCourt, arrested at Silverton, near Cincinnati, allegedly confessed the shooting and named the other two, Earl Healey, 22, and Clarence Rains, 19, as his accomplices. Their victim, Robert Roberts, 57-year-old Hamilton truck driver, was in serious condition in a Cincinnati hospital.

All three youths live in Cincinnati. The pair held at Findlay was said to have admitted kidnapping and robbing a youth at Toledo, forcing him from his car, and driving his stolen car to Findlay where they obtained $10 in a filling station holdup.

Then, it was said, they took Route 31 toward Kenton in the belief they were heading for Cincinnati. The youths were captured as they approached Kenton.

Raider, Gaining Haven In Uruguay Port, To Seek Permission To Remain During Repairs; 30 Days May Be Required

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 14—The British navy suffered heavily in the running sea battle which sent the crack German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee limping into Montevideo crippled by thirteen hits from water-line to bridge, it was revealed today.

While the German minister to Uruguay threatened formal charges that the British had used poison gas shells in the combat between the Graf Spee and four cruisers of the Royal Navy, British Minister Millington Drake disclosed that one of the British ships, the Exeter, was damaged almost as badly as the German battleship and is "out of action."

Details of the first major sea battle of the new war were still obscure, but there was evidence today that the Graf Spee was almost out of fuel and racing for a rendezvous with the German oil tanker Tacoma off the River Plate estuary when she unexpectedly encountered the Exeter.

The Exeter sent out a call for aid, and within a short time the Graf Spee found herself engaged in battle with the Exeter, the Ajax, the Barham and Achilles of the British South Atlantic cruiser squadron.

Early Story Corrected
Early reports that the British had put the Graf Spee out of action possibly for duration of the war without suffering losses themselves were dispelled when Drake visited the Exeter in the outer roads this morning. He refused information regarding the status of the Ajax, Achilles and Barham, but indicated there were several dead and wounded aboard the Exeter. There apparently was no intention of bringing any of the British vessels into Montevideo, however.

As a check-up showed 38 dead aboard the Graf Spee, with 60 seriously wounded and from 30 to 40 minor casualties, including the battleship's commander, German authorities withdrew their request for internment of the vessel for duration of hostilities. To Seek 30-Day Stay

LONDON—Questions of international law concerning the Admiral Graf Spee are "under active consideration" between Britain and Uruguay, Earl Chatfield, minister for coordination of defense, told the House of Lords today.

LONDON—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today justified the action of a British submarine commander in failing to sink the German luxury liner Bremen when she passed across the submarine's bow within torpedo range enroute home from Murmansk.

LONDON, Dec. 14—Although jubilant over reports that a German pocket battleship had been driven to cover at Montevideo, British naval authorities were compelled today to announce the loss of another British destroyer which sank apparently with about 120 members of its crew.

Issuing a series of communiques which told a story of spreading warfare at sea, the admiralty announced that the 1,375-ton destroyer Duchess was sunk following a collision with another unnamed British ship at an unspecified location. The second vessel was not damaged.

The communique said it was feared that the only survivors from the Duchess were one officer and 22 naval ratings. Since the Duchess normally carried a complement of 145 officers and men, it was believed about 120 lives were lost. The admiralty stated the Duchess had left two (Continued on Page Eight)

OFFICIALS BUY FIRE TRUCK FOR RURAL DISTRICT

Trustees, Commissioners in Meeting Wednesday Eve; Price Paid $5,700

ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

County To Pay $1,500 With Townships Not Certain Of Exact Amounts

A group of township trustees and the county commissioners purchased a Seagraves fire truck Wednesday night for use on rural fires and dangerous fires in Circleville.

The truck, to be delivered in 60 to 90 days, will be housed in the Circleville fire department and will be operated on rural runs by a member of the Circleville department. Cost of the truck is about $5,700.

The truck was purchased at a meeting of trustees, clerks and two county commissioners held in the Circleville Township House. The purchase was made by the Volunteer Fire Association organized with James Mowery, Circleville Township, as president; George Shook, Jackson Township, vice president, and A. C. Noecker, Walnut Township, secretary and treasurer.

County to Pay $1,500

Commissioners Ralph May and John Keller, who attended the meeting, agreed to spend $1,500 as the county's share in the cooperative program. The remainder of the cost of the truck will be shared by the townships, but the exact amount each will pay will not be definite until it is determined whether Salt Creek and Harrison Townships will participate in the program.

Commissioner C. E. Wright, who opposed spending $1,500 of county money for the truck, did not attend the meeting.

Named as directors of the volunteer fire association are Dan Hinton, Pickaway Township; A. C. Noecker, Walnut Township; Roy Fosnaugh, Madison Township; G. F. Reid, Scioto Township; Howard Cupp, Wayne Township; M. M. Bowman, Washington Township; George Shook, Jackson Township; James Mowery, Circleville Township; Ambrose Muhl, Muhlenberg Township, and Ralph May, commissioner.

For many years the Circleville fire department made rural runs using the city's old pumper. This old truck is now out of commission and can be used only as a hose wagon.

'PRAIRIE JUSTICE' MOVIE FOR GRAND TOY PROGRAM

Another toy program is being planned at the Grand Theatre Saturday at 10 a. m., Manager Dick Offenbacher announcing that "Prairie Justice" will be the featured picture.

All children of the city and county who wish to see the show may do so by using a toy for the price of admission. The toys will be given to the firemen to help swell their collection which will be issued to needy children.

JAPANESE SAY SHIP TOLL ON COAST IS ABOUT 750

TOKYO, Dec. 14—Approximately 750 lives were lost, it was estimated today, when the Soviet steamer Indigirka was wrecked on the Hokkaido Coast yesterday after running aground in a storm.

The Japanese steamer Karafuto Maru disembarked 395 survivors at Wakkanai.

State Grangers Listen To Governor Bricker

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—The Ohio State Grange was to conclude its 67th annual session today after selecting the site for its 1940 convention.

At the farm organization's annual banquet last night Governor Bricker spoke briefly and again pointed out that Cleveland's "relief crisis" could have been averted if civic leaders had followed advice of state officials.

"Instead," the governor said, "delegations representing the CIO and AF of L were sent to Columbus to 'raise hell' about the relief situation."

"Cleveland finally decided three days ago to issue notes against tax delinquencies as I directed—but not until two or three months after it was outlined to them."

More than 800 attended the banquet at which awards were made to outstanding grange and their members. Toastmaster at the banquet was Edmund Secrest of the Ohio experiment station at Wooster.

In resolutions adopted yesterday, the grange urged the state department of dairy products; went on record favoring rural electrification, and urged extension of chemurgic research.

In the national field, the grange expressed opposition to centralization of government and urged that the national relief load be lessened. More resolutions were to be adopted today.

Joseph B. Morton, 86, Mt. Vernon, a grange member for 67 years, was declared the oldest among the estimated 3,000 in attendance.

Granges receiving awards in the national improvement contest included Alton, Riverside of Bell-point and Newark. Winners in the booster contest were Portage county's Ravenna group and Green Springs Grange, Seneca County.

Given "champion" ratings were the Mile Brange grange, Columbiana County; North Robinson, Crawford County; Ellsworth, Mahoning; Smith, Mahoning; Grand Rapids, Marion County; Martel, Marion; Ravenna, Portage; Bath, Summit, Union, and Southington, Trumbull.

Juvenile awards included Greenwood, Hardin County, and Pleasant Hill, Williams County.

FIREMEN FIX REGULATION FOR TOY DISTRIBUTIONS

Firemen announced Thursday that parents must sign for toys to be distributed to needy families for Christmas.

They explained that when children make requests for toys they frequently provided incorrect addresses and duplications, prevailed. Firemen believed this would be eliminated by a regulation that a parent must make the toy request.

The department is still short of toys to meet the average number of requests, firemen said. They are especially in need of dolls. The donations of dolls have been below average this season, firemen said.

They tell us that ordinary rice popcorn fertilized with strawberry pollen will produce this kind of corn. And we'll bet that Fred Richey and Roger Hedges the local corn breeders, know all about how this corn came into being.

MYSTERIOUS MINE BLAST KILLS SWEDISH SAILORS

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 14—Explosion of a mysterious, wire-detached mine killed four Swedish sailors and wounded 13 others, naval authorities announced today. The blast occurred when the crew of the Swedish coast defense battleship Manligheten tried to take aboard a paravane discovered in coastal waters near Goteborg. The paravane was brought aboard, but it was followed by a wire equipped with couplings, three of which were taken aboard without incident. When the fourth coupling came to the surface, however, it caused the mine to explode, Swedish authorities stated, adding the contraption was of a type hitherto unknown to the Swedish navy.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

A bright, melodious host of grand old songs, known to oldsters and youngsters alike because they have become increasingly popular through the years, and four new songs, destined to rank in the hit class, will be sung and danced to in the great new Bing Crosby comedy drama, "The Star Maker" which Paramount will present on Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre.

The old songs are the work of Gus Edwards, the famous showman whose amazing career suggested the story of the picture. Bing will be heard singing such tuneless Edwards' numbers as "School Days," "In My Merry Oldsmobile," "Look Out for Jimmy Valentine," "If I Was a Millionaire," "I Can't Tell Why I Love You But I Do," "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," "Tammany" and many others. In several of the numbers, he will be accompanied by outstanding groups of child singers, assembled especially for the picture.

The new songs which Bing will sing in the picture the work of Johnny Burke and James V. Monaco, ace song writing team. Entitled "Still the Bluebird Sings," "An Apple for the Teacher," "Go Fly a Kite" and "A Man and His Dreams," they already rank in the hit class. As in the case of the old songs, Bing will have child singers furnishing vocal background.

RUSSIANS RULE POLISH REGION BY ROUGH HAND

Ukraine District Is Being Sovietized By Ruthless Red Methods

800 PERSONS EXECUTED

5,000 Exiled In District For Resisting, Stories Of Residents Say

CERNAUTI, Rumania, Dec. 14—Political commissars are showing no mercy in sovietizing the Polish Ukraine.

This is revealed in the accounts of several refugees who have recently escaped into Rumania by crossing the Dniester river at night.

All tell similar stories of summary treatment to those resisting collectivization: 800 executed and 5,000 exiled into the interior of Russia or Siberia are the most conservative estimate made to date.

Peasant committees are formed in each village have dealt severely with former landlords and alleged kulaks. While supervising trials, Russian commissars have allowed the Ukrainians to form their own courts for dealing with local "enemies of the people."

Poles Suffer Most

Class hatred and local grudges account for much of the brutality, but Poles living in the Ukraine have suffered the most. Before the arrival of the Russians, Ukrainians attacked many Polish villages, burned the houses, and shot the inhabitants outright. This has now been stopped, but all Poles are being moved out of the Ukraine.

Young men and women commissars, party instructors, representatives of the Komsomol (Soviet youth), and secret police were sent from Moscow immediately after the entry of the Red Army. Setting up headquarters at Lwow, they systematically organized village Soviets, started classes in Communism, and began the process of collectivization.

Peasants, who had believed only the property of the wealthy would be taken, were disillusioned when forced to submit lists of their own personal belongings, and many attempted to resist. These minor revolts were quickly crushed, but there are daily traits of those accused of passive resistance and sabotage.

Refugees state that no attempt will be made to establish large collective farms until spring, but that peasants have already been notified they must be prepared to join one of those institutions at that time.

Huge pictures of Stalin have replaced those of Pilsudski in all public buildings; Russian movies are shown in the cinemas; and "to-varich" is now the common greeting instead of "pan".

Scoutmaster Hackett

Scout Harrison

SCOUTMASTER Daniel Hackett, Jr., 29, and Boy Scout Norval Harrison, 15, are dead following what authorities believe was an attempt to emulate the feat of legendary William Tell—shooting an apple off a boy's head. Harrison was found shot in Hackett's room and shortly after Hackett shot himself fatally. An apple suspended by a string at the level of young Harrison's height was found dangling from the ceiling of Hackett's room. The two were close friends.

COUNCIL IN MEETING TO VOTE ORDINANCES

A special meeting of city council was held Wednesday night for passage of two ordinances declaring the necessity of bond issues. Both were approved.

One bond issue is for $40,000, the money to be used to purchase a small fire truck. This truck would be used on small fires. The present pumper has too large a capacity for the amount of water available in some of the outlying districts.

The second ordinance provides a $2,000 bond issue for the city's share of expenses for improvement of streets under WPA.

With only the two ordinances up for consideration the session of council was brief.

THEY 'MAKE YOU SICK'

PHILADELPHIA.—Unpleasant situations or persons really do "make you sick," according to Temple University professors. The body has a kind of "organ language" for compensating tension or emotional strain, according to Dr. Edward Weiss, of Temple medical school. Emotional difficulties can cause body disturbances which "mimic almost any disease," he explained.

Pravda who was convicted as a counter-revolutionary, was in charge of Sovietizing Polish Ukraine have not been supported by the testimony of any refugee with whom this correspondent talked.

Although discontented and frightened, the Ukrainians who are now completely disarmed, are so heavily policed that it is believed there is little possibility of a revolt.

"The cause of Ukrainian nationalism is now at its lowest ebb," said a refugee here, "it had little hope under the Poles, but it has no chance whatsoever under the Russians."

skin of his teeth, considers himself a contender for the vice-presidential nomination.

IN A DITHER

Chairman Arthur Altmeyer of the Social Security Board is in a terrible dither.

You can appreciate just how nervous he must be by the fact that although he has adamantly opposed liberalizing pensions in the past he is now frantically figuring how to increase them. Specifically, by $39,000,000 worth.

Last spring, when social security revision was under consideration, Altmeyer trotted out a batch of amendments which, he solemnly assured the President, and congressional leaders, and Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt, would pay out $114,000,000 to needy aged in 1940. There was considerable private skepticism about Altmeyer's claim. But he insisted he knew what he was talking about, so other proposals were ditched and his amendments approved.

Now, with only a few weeks remaining before these much-touted amendments go into effect, it develops that Altmeyer's calculations were all wet. Instead of $114,000,000, actually not more than $74,000,000 will be paid out.

And not all of that will be pensions, only $35,000,000 going for that purpose. The remaining $39,000,000 will go to surviving relatives of deceased annuitants.

In other words, Altmeyer's amendments have turned out to be a complete flop when it comes really liberalizing the pension system. The payments will be a drop in the bucket compared to the hundreds of millions of dollars that will be shipped into an idle Treasury fund through social security taxes.

ALTMAYER UNDER FIRE

So Altmeyer is in a terrible stew to find some way to cover up his fiasco. If he doesn't it may mean his scalp. He already is under heavy fire from several powerful quarters.

Pension forces are sour on him because of his hostility to liberalizing the pension system. McNutt, critical because of the millions of "John Doe" (unidentifiable) pension accounts cluttering up Social Security records, wants to clean out the whole Social Security Board and replace it with one man.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

of his own choice. And, with an election in the offing, Roosevelt and the politicians are sure to show when they discover just how badly Altmeyer misled them.

Note—Chairman Bob Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee has ordered Altmeyer to submit a report giving a complete picture of the "John Doe" situation and the Social Security financial set-up.

BRITISH-U. S. PLANES

Latest device of the British, in taking delivery of planes built in the United States, is to tow them across the Canadian border on barges, principally at Detroit and Buffalo.

This is now found preferable to the trick of pushing them over the line at the Montana airport located at the border.

Both devices have resulted from the U. S. ruling that planes sold to belligerents may not be flown into or from the United States. So the only way to export them without dismantling is to shove, pull, coast or tow them across the Canadian border.

The Montana airport at first was an easy solution of the problem. Planes could be flown there from U. S. plants by U. S. pilots, while still U. S. property. Then the transfer of title was made on the spot, the Canadians fastening a rope to the plane and pulling it across the border. Canadian or British pilots climbed aboard and flew the plane away.

But the Montana airport is high and cold, and the weather is bad for flying. So the British are now taking delivery of planes onto barges and towed across to the Canadian side.

CONSERVANCY'S FUTURE HINGES ON STATE MOVE

Residents Of 18 Counties
Demand Relief From Tax Assessments

RULING UP TO HERBERT

Charge Of Inefficiency
In Operation Denied
By Officials

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14.—The future of the Muskingum Conservancy District rested today in the hands of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert as taxpayers pressed for relief from the burden of assessments to maintain the flood control project in 18 Central Ohio counties.

Key to the problem apparently rested in an opinion requested from Herbert as to whether officials of the district held the power under present laws to turn over to the federal government the 14 dams and adjacent land contained in the flood control project. Federal authorities already have agreed to accept the district and place it under the jurisdiction of the war department.

Plight of taxpayers in scores of communities which had pledged support to the program was outlined at a joint senate-house committee hearing at which several requests were made for a special session of the legislature in January to deal with the problem.

Ruling Awaited

The committee, headed by Sen. Walter G. Nickels (R-Tuscarawas), adjourned until the week after Christmas to await a ruling from Herbert on the matter. It was explained that if the district had the power to deed the project to the federal government, the problem would be solved.

Action on the investigation was forced by the Muskingum Valley Association, a taxpayers group, headed by G. L. Lodgeson, of Zanesville. Representatives from other cities in the district attended the session to present their views on the flood control project.

Officials of the conservancy district denied before the committee charges made by the association that had been operated inefficiently and that some property acquired for the flood control project had been appraised "far above ordinary commercial value."

Speaking for officials of the district, B. C. Browning, secretary of the organization contended that most property owners had complaints on file today.

Judge Robert B. Putnam, of Millersburg, presiding judge of the conservancy district court, which has jurisdiction over the project, urged the committee to ask for a special session of the legislature as soon as possible to enact legislation that would settle the flood control problem permanently.

Special Session Asked

C. A. Fisher, chief counsel for the conservancy district, also recommended that a special session be called on the matter.

"Is this issue of such public interest that it should be done immediately?" Chairman Nickels asked Fisher.

"I believe it is," Fisher replied. Fisher added, however, that a favorable opinion by the attorney general might settle the transfer problem, but that the legislature might still have to take action to make certain to insure that the state obtain conservational and recreational benefits from the flood district.

It was explained that 10 fair-sized artificial lakes had been created by the program which could be used by Ohioans some day for fishing, swimming and boating.

Officials of the conservancy board made it clear to the committee that they were unwilling to turn over the lands to the federal government without written assurances that all obligations incurred by the district would be paid. Bonds outstanding total nearly $4,000,000.

Col. Joseph D. Arthur, representing the U. S. war department, told the committee he was "reasonably certain" there would be no additional assessments levied against property owners once the federal government took over the project.

Lytle in Warning

Mayor W. J. Lytle of Urichsville, warned the committee that unless something were done soon, the state might be confronted again with a taxpayers "strike"

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

SICK CAESARS

At the next session your Congressman will be under pressure from the left for the Wagner so-called "Health" bill. Before making further costly experiments in national socialism at home we might pause in our mad rush and contemplate its results abroad.

I urge you to read "Health Under Hitler" in the December Readers Digest and then to urge your Congressman to read it. It is a summary of a forthcoming book by Dr. Martin Gumpert, formerly head of the Berlin City Dispensary for deformity diseases. Every fact in it is said to be supported entirely from official and scientific German publications which somehow escaped the censor.

PETTENGILL in indictment of the whole theory of the supposed efficiency of the super state. It takes Caesar off parade.

Even if you are interested only in the question of, how long can Caesar last, read this article.

The Socialists in American medicine are promising gaudy results if you put them on the payroll. But "let us look at the record." Hitler came to power in January 1933. By 1937 scarlet fever had increased 47 percent, and diphtheria 90 percent. The diphtheria mortality rate is now four times greater than in the United States where we are not yet blessed with political medicine. Honorable Paul McNutt, please note. And this is the record in the country whose scientists gave diphtheria antitoxin to her world!

Well, we have heard much of the "strength through joy" movement and the bubbling vitality of the Jungvolk and the Hitlerjugend. Children under Caesar are supposed to flourish under long marches with heavy packs and a Spartan regimen beginning when they are six years old. But do they? Not according to Dr. Gumpert. The feet of Caesar's cannon fodder are breaking down. More than 70 percent of the against assessments and levies of all kinds.

The investigation originally was ordered by the legislature because of such a strike at Newcomers-town.

"The taxpayers back home are getting mighty tired of the way the legislators, both state and foreign are doing things," Lytle declared. "These cities can't stand much tax burdens long."

both declined since Hitler came to power.

If Dr. Gumpert is correct, it is plain that the German people are worked out. They have reached the limit of their physical and psychic powers. They have made a heroic effort to rebuild their prestige after Versailles. But from these facts it does not seem possible that Germany can win a war of exhaustion. If that is the war we are to have the plight of these millions who have accepted a Spartan discipline, and especially their children, will be so terrible that even the hates engendered by war ought not to dull our mercy!

SAMEUEL B. PETTENGILL.

HOW TO HELP FINLAND

OUR British friends have such a way with them, and the sense of power is so great in London, that American diplomats have sometimes lost their sense of direction in the Strand and Downing Street. The Irish, however, are likely to know their way about and keep their heads in that environment.

Anyway, Ambassador Joe Kennedy, on a trip back home to report on the European mess, seems to have kept his head on straight. He told an audience in Boston:

"This is not our war. We must stay out of it. There is no place in it for us. You women, as you love America, don't let any propaganda that comes out of any country in the world make you believe that you can make the situation one whit better by getting us into the war."

He adds, to newspaper men: "There is no argument, whether social, political, economic or financial, why we should go in. I don't think there is anyone in America closer to the situation than I, and I am prepared to answer any argument in favor of American participation. Above all things the American people should not act emotionally."

Help the Finns — yes! But through such work as Herbert Hoover is doing. For the rest, help with sympathy and clear vision. And when it's over, help to bind up the wounds.

JUNGLE OFFICE HOURS

THE progress of civilization is depressing in some ways. Carveth Wells, in his travels about the world, finds that the jungle doesn't change but every thing else does. For example:

When he was surveying a road in the Malay Peninsula some years ago, he sent word to the native chief that he wanted to see him, and the chief promptly came to his camp bearing gifts. Lately Wells visited the same spot again, and when he sent word to the chief the runner came back with the message that the chief's office hours were 9 to 5:30 and he would be glad to see the explorer in his office.

Maybe this is progress, but it certainly isn't romance.

OPPORTUNITY

WE see by the papers that Carole Lombard is quoted as saying:

"It's all right to earn $150,000 a picture, but money is not essential to me and Clark. We would be just as happy on $10,000."

Gosh, what a set-up for some college president yearning to build a new chemical laboratory or something! It shouldn't be

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up before daybreak, having found the night entirely too long. A quiet house to myself, and after a while along came the morning prints which did scan until the breakfast gong. Except for the glorious fight being put up by the Finns the world news is not so exciting these days. No one ever imagined the beat of that war in Europe that had developed into a war of claims and counter claims.

At the post met Les May, the Fleetwing gasoline king, he being all smiles as usual. Chatted with Bill Murray and asked whether he had written his letter to Santa. "No," said Bill. "We had a fight when we were kids and haven't corresponded since."

Received a card from Dr. Bales, who is collecting shells at Marathon, Fla., saying he had a pleasant trip down and that the weather is perfect. Doc is one of the nation's outstanding shell collectors and hopes to pick up some new ones this winter. He does every year. Also came a Herald renewal subscription from Doris Barton in Birmingham, Ala. "Miss all our friends and often wish we could be back in Circleville," she pens.

Chatted with Charlie Mack and with him inspected the suite of rooms above his fine shoe store. Charlie is undecided as to just what he should do with the four rooms—make them into offices or an apartment. Anyway, he has remodeling in mind.

Learned that Miller Fissell is to assume duties as a policeman next month. He now is one of Charlie Radcliff's deputies and while serving in that capacity accumulated much valuable police equipment. Miller also for years has made a real study of crime prevention and detection. Because of his interest in the work and his ability the city has gained a highly valuable officer.

Now, the Chamber of Commerce is taking a hand in the movement to obtain uniforms for the high school band. That means the uniforms will be obtained. The city should be proud of those kids and their very competent instructor. They are good musicians and always are more than willing to cooperate in any civic undertaking. I often have wondered why we don't make some use of the musicians developed at the high school. The kids are graduated and on that day must put aside their musical instruments and forget their training. Why can't we use them in a community band? And, too, I have often wondered why educators believe that athletic training is more important to pupils than a musical training. A boy can not play football or basketball all of his life. But he can get a lifetime of pleasure out of music. I am one of those who believe that music appreciation is slightly more important than football appreciation. Yet, the school, through its athletic association, spends hundreds of dollars a year on the athletic teams and not a red penny on the band. It is time something should be done to encourage the young musicians.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

NO PEACE IN SIGHT

WASHINGTON—The confidential report which Ambassador Joe Kennedy brought to Roosevelt was anything but optimistic. Contrary to rumor, Kennedy did not report any possibility of peace in Europe by April.

On the contrary, he told the President that people on either side had not yet suffered enough to want peace very poignantly. He emphasized the fact that the populations of both sides have to feel real privation before they will make the necessary sacrifices for peace.

One thing about which the Ambassador was very positive was the fact that business was going to pot in Europe, and that the present capitalist system in Europe was in grave danger. He did not deny the possibility of revolution behind the lines if the war drags on too long.

NOTE—Kennedy did not report on this to President Roosevelt, but he, personally, has felt the effects of long, grueling hours in blacked-out London. He has been suffering from stomach trouble, and has lost ten pounds. He finds it impossible to spare time for exercise except at night, and has taken to horseback riding in the evening. Once while riding in the dark, his horse stumbled and he had a bad spill.

NEW DEAL FOOTBALL

Biggest hit at the recent Gridiron Club dinner was 32-year-old Governor Stassen of Minnesota. His comparison of football teams brought down the house.

First he told about the famous football eleven of the University of Minnesota. Then he switched, very subtly, to football as played in Washington, naming Ickes, Murphy, Farley, Morgenthau and other star players on the team.

"Of course," he said, "it looks as if only the quarterback understood the signals."

"And then there is Professor Moley, who scores a New Deal touchdown behind their own goal-posts."

"But the most spectacular play of all was when Ickes tackled McNutt just after he had received a delayed forward pass."

POLITICAL GO-ROUND

After a three-day stay in the Capital, including a visit to the White House, canny Alf Landon is telling friends that he is convinced Roosevelt will again be the Democratic standard-bearer next year.

While in Los Angeles, Senator H. Styles Bridges said "howdy" to a number of big shot Southern California GOP leaders, but the biggest one eluded him. Harry Chandler, multi-millionaire publisher, declined an invitation on the ground of a previous engagement—which turned out to be a trustees' meeting at Leland Stanford University . . . ### Amoebic Dysentery a Constant Menace

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Please tell me something about amoebic dysentery and its treatment.

Amoebic dysentery is a constant source of trouble and reinfection by amoeba carriers. While it is, strictly speaking, a tropical disease, we have enough carriers in the United States to make a pool of infection which can at any moment spread. After the big epidemic of dysentery in 1933 and 1934, the patients were released and there are still a few of them that are proving to be a problem.

As late as 1937 some presented themselves for treatment because of recurrence of their symptoms. They were evidently suffering from chronic amoebic dysentery, which may follow a severe acute attack. In the chronic form there are recurrent attacks of dysentery with intervals when there may actually be constipation.

The treatment of carriers is not the same as the treatment of those with clinical symptoms.

Treating White Spots on the Hands

What is the treatment for white spots on the hands?

White spots on the skin, usually the backs of the hand and the neck, technically called "vitiligo," have not yielded very well to treatment. About the best that can be done is to advise painting the spots with the juice of walnut husks or some other dye to conceal them. Solution of potassium permanganate of proper strength can be used for this purpose.

Attempts to tan these spots have been made for many years. The trouble is that the real nature of the trouble is a disturbance of pigmentation. The spots resist the action of light, both ultra-violet lights and the sun's rays. The injection of dyes into the bloodstream has been tried. Lindsay, in 1929, reported the cure of a case by the injection of gold sodium thiosulfate, and Cohen reported another similar successful case in 1933.

Eruptions in the Webbing of Fingers

What causes blistery and colubary eruptions in the webbing of the fingers?

Dermatitis in the webs of the fingers, along the sides of the fingers, may be due either to ringworm infection, dermatitis, venenata, eczema or pompholyx.

Ringworm infections can be ruled out or confirmed by examining the scrapings in the tops of the vesicles. Dermatitis venenata is dermatitis due to contact with plants; the history of contact is important. These winter days the commonest is probably primrose. Other irritants will produce a vesicular dermatitis; soap is the commonest offender.

Pompholyx or dyshidrosis consists of small blisters that form in an itchy eruption. It is probable that it is really a form of ringworm. It used to be frequently diagnosed but of late ringworm fungi have been found so often in cases of this kind that many have come to believe that all such cases are caused by fungi.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

By Marie Blizard

SINOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful.
NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.
ELLEN CHAPMAN, young and capable mistress of Willoughby house.
DR. BILL MALLORY, close friend of Ellen's.

YESTERDAY: Fabienne knows she is falling in love with Bill, tries to fight it off for Ellen's sake.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

AFTER PRUNELLA closed the door back of her, Fabienne reached for the lamp switch on her bedside table. She took a mirror from the drawer and held it up to her face. Only anxiety showed there, and some of her shock. So her love for Bill Mallory showed in her face, did it?

She put the mirror away and lay in darkness, knowing, admitting that she did love Bill. And she knew it took no second sight for anyone to read it, knowing that in her unguarded moments, her thoughts must have been written in her eyes.

If Prunella had seen it, Ellen, too, must have been aware of it. And Bill? No, not Bill. She had been careful of that, leaning backward in her effort to keep from him what she felt. Also a man was not as likely, as a woman would be, to know what those swift changes, those lights in her eyes, those tender smiles would mean.

A woman in love would know. Ellen would know. Ellen had never said that she was in love with Bill. But wasn't their easy camaraderie, their long intimacy, those looks of unspoken understanding enough to convince Fabienne that there was a love that needed no announcement?

Ellen—Ellen, who was such a good, kind, understanding friend; Ellen, who had been closer to her than any other girl she had ever known; Ellen who had given her work that gave her life meaning, and who had even taken her into her home, nursed her when she was ill. Her thoughts were filled with Ellen and they were compounded of gratitude and affection and shame.

On the fringe of that tapestry of thought, there was the image of Bill. Telling herself that she did love him—even though she knew that he was not for her—she would like to have taken out her memories like treasures and fondled them, cherishing the remembrance of his touch, his tenderness; delighting her mind's eye with a gallery of pictures of him: Bill at the clinic in his white coat with his kindly eyes and slow smile, silencing fears and promising healing; Bill with his hat brim snapping over his eyes, his trench coat collar carelessly turned up as he walked with her one snowy, still night; Bill sitting beside her bed during those long, feverish nights, giving her his strength.

No, she must not think of that while there was Ellen, Ellen whom she had hurt so much.

It must end now. She must go away. Bill said that she couldn't go back to the settlement house for some time, that she ought to go south and get some warm sunshine. But she couldn't do that; there was the little theater nearing its completion—and there was also the fact that she was without funds. Of course, she knew that she could always get money from Uncle Mark or Gertrude.

She wouldn't go south, but she would leave Ellen's apartment. The problem was how to do it without making her reason obvious.

The solution came from a quarter she least expected. Two days after the long night she had spent in unhappy speculation, Dick came down from Harvard and told her that he was going to be married at once and leave for Chile.

He came in at supper time when Bill and Ellen were keeping Fa-bienne company at a card table set up beside her couch.

"My two very good friends, Ellen Chapman and Dr. Mallory, I want you to meet my brother, Dick," she said, kissing Dick and holding him at arm's length. "And what's the meaning of this? I didn't know there were any holidays this week?"

"No more holidays for me," he said gaily. "I'm going to work."

"Work?" She hadn't taken him seriously. Seymour men never worked. They raised horses or served on boards.

"My girl's old man is giving me a job with his company in Chile. Brenda and I are going to be married a week from Saturday. We're sailing the following Monday. Incidentally, Fab, she's a swell person. She wants you to be a bridesmaid."

Fabienne's thoughts were in a state of utter confusion. "A little slower, please, darling. Is this the Haviland girl who lives in California?"

He nodded proudly.

"But I don't even know her," Fabienne protested. "And she wants me to be a bridesmaid? I don't believe I'll be able to get to California in that time."

"The wedding is going to be here. At the apartment?"

"What apartment?" Fabienne asked patiently.

"Mother's apartment, of course."

"But mother hasn't an apartment. At least, it's rented to the Derwentes."

"Was," he told her. "They've gone to Arizona. I called mother in Paris last night. She's sailing for home day after tomorrow. Brenda's mother is dead and so mother is going to give her the wedding."

Yes, Fabienne thought, mother would. She remembered her mother's Christmas letter and her hopes for her son. ("The Havildans have tons of money.")

Dick was saying apologetically, "I'd just as soon get married at the City Hall, but you know how girls are. We'll be in the wilds for some time, so Brenda wants a big show before she goes. Bridesmaids and veil and church wedding. All that stuff."

Belatedly, Fabienne caught her brother's hand and gave it a little squeeze. "The best of luck to you, Dick! I'd love to be a bridesmaid at your wedding."

"When you and Nicky get married, send me a wire and I'll do the same for you. How is the old boy?"

"Very fine," she said, looking neither at Ellen nor Bill, but managing enthusiasm in her voice for their benefit. "I haven't seen him for a month and I miss him. I expect he'll be here shortly. I'd like him to be here for the wedding. Any family party without Nicky wouldn't seem right. He—he belongs, doesn't he?" When she finished her effort there were spots of pink showing on the thin bones of her face.

"They've been sweethearts since they were kids," Dick explained to Ellen and Bill.

Fabienne lowered her eyes, not denying it, hoping that Ellen would think what she wanted her to.

"Now what about you, sis? Had a cold?"

Bill said, "She nearly had pneumonia."

Fabienne said, "It wasn't too serious. Dick's not worth troubling you all about. Ellen and Bill have taken very good care of me between them."

"It looks as if they did. . . . You got a cozy place here," Dick told Ellen frankly, scrutinizing the big, pleasant room.

"I like it better since Fabienne came to live with me," Ellen answered, smiling at the girl on the couch. "It was big and lonesome before."

"I've liked it, too," Fabienne said steadily, meeting Ellen's eyes across the room. "I'm going to miss it when I go."

"GO?" Bill and Ellen said it together.

"Where are you going?" Dick put the rest of the question.

"Why, back to mother's, of course," she said simply.

Back to mother's big, beautiful apartment, away from the first real home she had ever had, away from those morning breakfasts with Ellen, from those evenings with Ellen and Bill. Back to a life she no longer wanted so that Ellen would never again see her look at Bill and know that she loved him.

Presby-Weds Enjoy Talk On Scotland's Customs

Margaret Rooney
On Program At Meeting

An outstanding meeting of the Presby-Weds was held Wednesday in the social room of the Presbyterian Church, the highlight of the evening being the talk on "Scotland's Customs" by Miss Margaret Rooney.

Miss Rooney mentioned in opening her talk that she chose to talk of Scotland at the meeting because of the historical background of the Presbyterian Church in that country. She discussed this in connection with the churches she had visited in the country, and also told of her visit to the birthplace of John Knox, an outstanding leader of the early church in Scotland.

Her descriptions of churches, castles and universities which she had visited were particularly interesting, especially the portion of her talk devoted to Edinburgh. She spoke of visiting Loch Lomond and many other historically interesting spots.

In closing, Miss Rooney spoke of the warmth of feeling existing in Circleville and other places in the United States between the members of the Catholic and Protestant churches in contrast to the bitter coldness of those of Scotland.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey were hosts for the evening, many newcomers being included in the group of 25 seated for the cooperative dinner at 6:30 p. m.

A colorful Christmas tree and cheery winter bouquets were the attractive table decorations.

Donald H. Watt, president, was in the chair for the business session when plans were discussed for the January session. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Price will be hosts at the meeting which will be Wednesday, January 10, at the church. The usual cooperative dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Ebenezer Social Circle

Mrs. Harry Montelius was elected president of the Ebenezer Social Circle Wednesday at the business meeting, held in connection with the annual Christmas party of the group at Gold Cliff Chateau. Chosen to assist her for the coming year were Mrs. Harvey Dresbach, vice president; Miss Alda Bartley, secretary; Mrs. Eva Dresbach, treasurer and Mrs. James Pierce, pianist.

Mrs. Cliff Miller was hostess for the affair which included a covered dish dinner at noon. Holiday greens formed the appropriate decorations for the party. Twenty-eight members and five visitors were present.

Mrs. Turney L. Pontius, president, was in the chair for the opening of the business hour and presided during the election. After group singing of a Christmas hymn, Mrs. Pontius read the Christmas story from the second chapter of St. Matthew.

The business hour closed with a quartet selection by Mrs. George Jury, Mrs. Marvin Dreisbach, Mrs. Charles Dresbach and Mrs. George Bennett.

The Shadow sisters were revealed and gifts exchanged. The place for the January session will be announced after the new officers have arranged the calendar of monthly meetings.

Union Guild Meets

Christmas greens and various symbols made the attractive holiday setting for the December session of the Union Guild when it met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Cupp of Wayne Township. Mrs. Cupp was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Roy Rittinger of the same community.

Twenty members and guests were present, the meeting being opened by Mrs. Lee Winks with group singing of Christmas carols. The Christmas story was told by Mrs. Roy Newlon, who read the scripture lesson from second Matthew. The Lord's prayer in unison closed the devotions. The members answered roll call by telling the things they liked best about Christmas.

During the brief business session plans were made for a lunch stand at the E. A. Ballou sale Tuesday, December 19. The proceeds will be used to provide clothing for needy children.

Two readings, "The Extras" by Mrs. Roy Rittinger and "Woman Wise," by Mrs. Paul Counts were enjoyed during the program hour. Mrs. Leo Hodgson, a guest, became a member of the guild at this session. Carol singing by the group closed the meeting.

Skirting Styles

SKIRTS aren't as simple as they used to be. Some are balloon, full above the knees in daytime styles and above the ankles in short, dancing-length dresses. The hobble, split and harem skirts are other newcomers, the last being a feature of the very wearable crepe pictured. It's a modified adaptation at that, giving more of an impression of front fullness than of the harem hem. Bands are criss-crossed for pretty sleeves, a narrow girdle, wrapped twice and tied at the waist, contributing further softness. Such frocks for afternoon and cocktails cry for uplifting hats like the rose-trimmed model shown.

Louis Hitler, Neal Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hartranft and Mr. Poling.

Various games and contests were planned for the early evening entertainment, cards being enjoyed during the later hours.

NAZI GRAF SPEE, BRITISH EXETER OUT OF ACTION

The Graf Spee to remain here for thirty days to enable repairs.

At the end of that time, it will be decided whether the Graf Spee is to accept internment or make a dash for liberty through British naval concentrations off the River Plate estuary.

The poison gas charges were made unofficially by Otto Langmann, German minister to Montevideo, who said he would lodge formal accusations to this effect before the day is out.

(Editor's note: Langmann's charges that mustard gas shells were used caused a sensation in Berlin. No official announcement was forthcoming immediately, but well-informed spokesmen said that if the charges are substantiated "it will mean the turning point from humane to inhumane warfare." The British admiralty vehemently denied the allegations, stating that the Royal Navy had never made or used poison gas of any description.)

With the Graf Spee out of commission for a month at least and for that reason probably facing internment in Montevideo for the duration of the war, this correspondent succeeded today in reaching the battleship's side in a small rowboat while the injured were still being carried off the vessel, one of the prides of the German navy.

It was immediately apparent that the marksmen of the British navy had done a first-class job and that the only thing that kept her from sinking was the heavy armor plate with which the Graf Spee is sheathed.

13 Hits Disclosed

The first daylight view of the crippled man of war showed four hits along the waterline and nine others in various portions of her hull and superstructure.

The control tower was partially destroyed by a well-placed shell and the bridge suffered some damage as well.

Following a superficial examination this morning, Uruguayan surveyors expressed opinion it would be impossible to repair even the outwardly visible damage in less than a month.

The Ajax, Achilles and Barham were still anchored 12 miles off Montevideo today, but port authorities prevented sightseeing boats from approaching them. Except for the brief visit made by correspondents in rowboats this morning, only members of the German legation staff were permitted to approach the Graf Spee.

A member of the Uruguayan navy told this correspondent that the Graf Spee deliberately ran the gauntlet of British gunfire without putting up a serious fight at the outset of the combat in an effort to avoid sinking or capture.

Oil Tanks Nearly Dry

This officer, one of a group detailed aboard the Graf Spee at her quay said that the warship's oil tanks were virtually dry. She had only sufficient fuel to carry her 30 miles more.

The Uruguayan officer said that a member of the Graf Spee's company admitted that the battleship was on her way to meet the German tanker Tacoma, presumably for refueling, when she unexpectedly encountered the Exeter. The latter immediately flashed word to other ships of the cruiser unit, and the Ajax, Achilles and Barham responded.

"If we had met the Tacoma 24 hours earlier, it would have been a different story," he quoted an officer of the Graf Spee as saying.

Another story circulating in Montevideo was that the British knew the Graf Spee was starving for fuel and awaiting a meeting with the Tacoma. The British South Atlantic squadron put itself into strategic positions to trap her.

There were varying versions of the Graf Spee's exact damage. The ship had a slight list and one report said that in addition to the control tower and a gun turret, one of her two airplanes was destroyed by a shell.

(Editor's note: Reuter's (British) agency said that all the Graf Spee's big guns (11 inches) were "probably put out of action.")

The seriously damaged 10,000-ton German raider at first was identified as her sister ship, the Admiral Scheer, when she staggered into port.

Many Bodies Recovered

Before dawn, the bodies of 22 members of the crew had been removed from the Nazi vessel and 11 more were being taken ashore, indicating that at least 33 officers and men were killed.

At the same hour, 72 wounded officers and men had been removed to hospitals in Montevideo.

Authorities announced the remainder of the crew would be transferred to barracks at the Montevideo garrison, where they probably will be interned, as soon as possible.

the German admiralty announced, officially today.

"The Graf Spee," said an official announcement, "has been operating in the Atlantic since outbreak of the war. It conveyed vessels between La Plata and Europe and sank the British steamers Talroa and Streonshall.

"The Graf Spee contacted the British cruisers Exeter, Ajax and Achilles and succeeded in inflicting heavy damage on the superior enemy forces.

"The Exeter was forced to leave the battle after suffering severe hits. One of the British light cruisers also was heavily damaged. The Graf Spee incurred some hits. At present she is in Montevideo harbor."

Authorities in Berlin stated that the Exeter's bridge had been partly blown away by shells. It was stated that the Graf Spee's bridge was intact.

Damage Minimized

The official German news agency DNB reported from Buenos Aires that British reports of the sea battle "tended to minimize the damage suffered by British ships."

The report said it was known, however, that there were heavy casualties and damages aboard the British vessels, and that the Graf Spee had engaged at least three enemy vessels in battle.

"According to further reports available here," said the Buenos Aires dispatch, "the British used mustard gas shells by which part of the victuals aboard the Graf Spee were spoiled, causing her to anchor at Montevideo."

Soviet Cruiser At Bottom Of Tallin Port, Claims Helsinki Advances

where the Russians reportedly lost 7,000 dead and wounded in a great two-day battle, a Soviet drive to cut Finland in two through the middle apparently was halted. Recapture by the Finns of Salla, charred center of fighting in that sector, was believed confirmed.

According to advances in Helsinki, the Russian advance toward Bothnian Bay was stopped after the Soviet forces had penetrated some 65 miles across Finland.

Military authorities said they expected snow to fall at the front "at any moment," adding that "only one hour's snow fall would be sufficient to end Russian hopes of a successful advance before next spring.

Meanwhile, a Russian spy plot was revealed in Helsinki with arrest of a young woman charged with speaking Russian over a secret telephone.

Tree-tops Used

With fierce fighting reported at the front, where the Russians were ready to launch a major offensive with the support of 1,500,000 troops, advances received in the capital told how Finnish forces machine gunned advancing Russians from tree-top hide-outs.

The Finns, it was stated, also succeeded in smashing Russian tanks by dropping bundles of hand grenades on them from trees.

(A Reuters dispatch from Oslo said that the Russians advancing on the middle front were pressing forward East of Governorikorski and that Finnish forces were retreating to the South.

(A Soviet communique issued in Moscow stated that Red army forces moving in the direction of Okhta had advanced 67 miles beyond the frontier and had occupied Kiteola on the Petrozavodsk front.)

Violent Russian attacks were carried out in the Tolvaljaervi district, where the Finnish forces claimed to have captured 15 tanks, five field guns and 10 anti-tank guns.

Fierce battles also raged along the entire Eastern Frontier, where most of the Russian assaults were said to have been repulsed.

(At Saunaniemi, Russian forces effected a landing but were quickly turned back and driven out to sea again.

Russian planes bombed numerous coastal districts, but the Finnish air force retaliated by bombing and machine gunning Red army motorized columns and lines of infantry.

ROTARIANS VOTE $25 TO HELP BUY BAND UNIFORMS

Rotarians voted a $25 donation Thursday noon to the fund for new uniforms for the Circleville High School Band.

They enjoyed a program of music provided by a group of pupils of Prof. C. F. Zaenglein. Those who took part in the program were Ruth Blum, pianist and eighth grade pupil; Dorothy Glenn, a sophomore who has studied the accordion for two years; Robert Kline, sophomore, and Delbert Puckett, eighth grader, both trumpet players; Clifford Kerns, sophomore, baritone horn player, and William Glenn, junior bass horn player.

The opening number was a trumpet duet "To A Wild Rose," by Delbert Puckett and Bob Kline. This was followed by two accordion numbers, "Beautiful Ohio" and "Whispering" by Dorothy Glenn. The brass quartet played two numbers "Out of the Dusk to You" and "Lassie O'Mine." "Liebesfrue" and "Fire Dance," were played by Ruth Blum. The program ended with the selection "Home, Sweet Home," by the group.

injured ratings ashore at its last port of call.

A few hours earlier the admiralty announced that a British submarine sank a German cruiser and sank a German U-boat in the North Sea.

The submarine, the communique said, was the same one which earlier this week sighted the German luxury liner Bremen enroute to Germany from Murmansk but permitted it to pass unmolested in deference to "international laws of sea warfare."

The admiralty did not reveal the name of the torpedoed German cruiser.

Admiralty officials waited anxiously for full details of the naval battle off the Uruguayan Coast in which a German pocket battleship was severely damaged by the guns of three cruisers and another warship believed to have been the battleship Barham.

An official communique emphatically denied charges issued by the German embassy at Montevideo that casualties aboard the German vessel, now identified as the Admiral Graf Spee, were caused mainly by mustard gas grenades.

"No mustard gas grenades or shells ever have been made or used by the Royal Navy," the statement said.

NEW HOLLAND DISCUSSES WATER WORKS PROJECT

A mass meeting will be held in the office of Mayor C. V. Stebbins of New Holland at 8 p. m. Thursday for a general discussion of a proposed waterworks system for the village.

The discussion will center on a project similar to the one worked up a year ago when application was made to the government for the waterworks to be a PWA project. PWA funds became exhausted about the time the application was made. No new appropriations have been made.

Those boosting the project hope it may be developed into a WPA project. The village would issue bonds to furnish its share of the cost.

WHEREABOUTS OF WOMAN, 'KIDNAPED' SON, UNKNOWN

The whereabouts of Mrs. Agnes Davis Johnson of Middletown, wanted in New Holland on a charge of kidnapping her own son, Buddy, 3, from his grandparents, was still unknown Thursday.

The mother and child disappeared from the village last Friday. A charge was then filed in the court of Mayor C. V. Stebbins.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnson, reported the mother came to visit and bring gifts for the child. When the mother and child went to a restaurant for refreshments they never returned. The child's parents are divorced. A Montgomery County court awarded custody of the child to the father and he was given permission to leave the youngster in the care of his grandparents.

DAVIES HINTED AS ATTACHE IN HULL'S OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 — American Ambassador to Belgium Joseph Davies may be kept in this country in an advisory post at the state department, Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early reported today.

Early emphatically denied that Davies had submitted his resignation to President Roosevelt.

He explained that Davies because of his service as ambassador to both Moscow and Brussels was one of the best informed diplomats on European affairs and thus would be very valuable to the President and the state department.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull feel that since Belgium is not at war, Davies at present might be spared for service in the United States, Early said.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, December 14

A VERY LIKELY day, but one calling for much discretion and discrimination, is forecast by the lunar aspects. There is a menace of opposition, possibly from high-ups and probably born of enmity, jealousy and deceit. With prudent handling of such matters, there are signs of progress, promotion and the friendship of those of prestige and influence. These may be cultivated with enhanced good fellowship resulting. Social factors contribute to a happy and fortunate day.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a lively, happy and productive year, with the friendly co-operation of those in high places. However, there is a menace of deceit that may threaten your credit and friendships, unless such are safeguarded by vigilance and prudence.

A child born on this day may be versatile and ambitious, possessing many happy qualities for a successful life. It might have deep religious convictions, being thoughtful, prudent and magnanimous.

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 14—Advance ticket sales today assured a $100,000 gate for the Ceferino Garcia-Glenn Lee middleweight championship bout in Manila stadium December 23.

The fight of the Filipino champion, whose world title is recognized only by New York and California, and the Nebraska, originally scheduled for Saturday, was postponed a week because it was feared Jack Dempsey would fail to arrive on the original date to referee the bout. The ex-heavyweight champion was grounded for six days in San Francisco because of inclement flying weather. He took off Monday on the Philippine Clipper. The plane is scheduled to arrive Saturday night.

THREE OF BUCK CAGE STARS TO MISS CONTESTS

Sattler And Schick Down In Grades; Lynch Leaves To Work For While

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Minus three first string men, Ohio State University's Western Conference basketball team inaugurates the 1939-40 season tonight against Wabash from Indiana. The game will be played in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Captain Bob Lynch and Centers Bill Sattler and John Schick will be out of the lineup for at least the rest of the month. Sattler and Schick collided with scholastic deficiencies and Lynch was forced to leave school temporarily to work.

Consequently, in the starting lineup in the initial test tonight will be three sophomores, Jack McLean at center, Jack Graf at guard and Dick Fisher at forward. Others in the first string lineup were Gil Mickelson at forward and Jack Dawson at guard.

Wabash has lost three games in three tries. But Coach Harold Olsen, taking into consideration his squad's weakened condition, was not over optimistic about the eventual outcome.

Wooster Feared Too, Olsen was quite worried about Saturday's clinic game with Wooster, Ohio Conference titleholders. The Scots possess a well balanced five which can easily upset the Bucks in their present condition. Such a mishap would deplete the Scarlet and Gray men and impair their morale even before they start defending the Western Conference crown they won last winter.

The Bucks, this year, will have to get along without the excellent generalship supplied for the last three years by the now immortal Jimmy Hull. Hull, however, will be around in the guise of assistant coach. So perhaps he can instill much needed pep when the going is tough.

The Scarlet and Gray reserve strength is centered around Tom Kinkade, sophomore football player, and Don Scott, rugged guard who was quarterback of the 1939 Buck football eleven.

Although he tips the scales at more than 210 pounds, Scott carries his weight nicely on a basketball floor. Last year, during the brief periods he saw action, he bottled up some of the sharp shooting opposing forwards. Kinkade, against Otterbein last week, displayed flashes of ability but must become more before he can be relied upon.

Michigan January 6 The Bucks launch their Western Conference season in Ann Arbor against Michigan on January 6. Between now and then they play Wooster, Kentucky, Pittsburgh, Cornell and California. With exception of Kentucky, all pre-conference season tilts are scheduled for the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

DENISON SQUAD TROUNCES FOES FROM GAMBIER

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Denison University's basketball five looked forward to a successful season today after trouncing Kenyon, 56 to 35, in the opening Ohio Conference game for the Granville cagers.

Jack Berno, Kenyon's sophomore center, took scoring honors with five field goals and seven free throws for a total of 17 points. O. Jones forward, paced Denison basketball with 10 points.

Toledo took on both Defiance and Albion on its home court and wound up with two convincing wins. Defiance was defeated, 51 to 16, and Albion of Michigan, 47 to 41.

Ohio Northern won a non-conference title from Griffin, 55 to 17; Wittenberg trounced Lafayette, 47 to 31, and Washington and Lee edged out Alfred Holbrook, 31 to 27.

Tonight's games: Tri-State at Bluffton; Muskingum at Capital; Wilberforce at Cedarville; Denison, Findlay, Ohio Northern and Heidelberg in round robin Ohio Conference meet in Findlay; Ashland at Kent; Wabash at Ohio State; Wilmington at Toledo DeSales; Wittenberg at Muhlenberg; Alfred Holbrook at Glenville.

About This And That In Many Sports

Ye janitor has been wondering for the last 24 hours whether Lancaster High School boys and girls who attended the Tiger-Gale cage game Tuesday evening were reprimanded, and how much, for their lack of sportsmanship during the evening. Had the game been played in Circleville there would have been an assembly, and the law would have been administered in no uncertain terms. There was no sportsmanship shown at Lancaster at any time during the games, especially during the varsity contest. When Joe Staely was down after being bumped during an under-basket scrimmage, the Lancaster stands sang a spirited school song. When the handful of Circleville boys and girls, and townspeople present, tried to cheer, they were drowned out by the Lancaster crowds. But the payoff came in the last few minutes of play when both teams were doing their damndest to score points. A crowd of Lancaster fans gathered in the balcony above the Tiger basket and gesticulated, waved hats and arms each time the Red and Black clad boys tried to toss a foul. Finally, after protest by Coach Roy Black, Umpire Earl Young moved a few of the crowd back. If this is sportsmanship, then we want none of it. Lancaster's boys played clean ball, at least as clean as could be expected in a game as hard-fought as that one was. Coach Ray Coleman handled himself as the gentleman that he is, but the boys and girls who make up the school's student body certainly acted as though they were being permitted out of the house after dark for the first time. We're still wondering if anything was done about it.

The less ye janitor can see of any officials from Chillicothe, except one, the better he is going to like all athletic games that he watches. That one is Tom Vernia, Chillicothe football coach who handles himself capably on the hardwood. Last fall at Frankfort, Meckling, Wiseman and Brothers, all Chillicotheans, put on a lousy exhibition of alleged officiating. A couple of weeks ago, Hutton, another Chillicothean, worked at Pickaway and had to be smuggled away from an irate Monroe crowd. Tuesday night at Lancaster, Earl Young and Meckling, again, were on hand, and their work was far from satisfactory. There are many Circleville fans who think very little of Young's ethics in working a game in which a team participated that his boys are scheduled to meet.

MISS STATE'S GLAMOUR GAL OKEH AS MASCOT

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Dec. 14—Shirley, just as ugly as could be expected at the tender age of one year, today had received a full mead of praise for the part she played in Mississippi State's 18 to 6 victory in the historic football series with the University of Mississippi.

State's triumph meant that Shirley had made a successful debut. Shirley is a bulldog. She was formally introduced as State's official mascot a few days before the bulldog maroons invaded Oxford. Squatty, bow-legged Shirley, however, was unable to enjoy the occasion to the fullest because she is still mourning at the loss of her uncle Bully.

The late uncle Bully, for several years the Maroon's mascot was buried before the old Miss game, as his niece at State's football team looked on.

Billy Conn Says Most Ring Men Plain 'Hams'

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—Along the big stem today we find... Billy Conn... world's light heavyweight champion... doing his Christmas shopping early... and declaring between purchases that there are only two real fighters of class in the world today... Joe Louis... the heavyweight king... and Pete Scalzo... uncrowned champion of the featherweights.

"All the rest," opines Billy, modestly omitting his own name... are "just ordinary good fighters..." among the "ordinary" mitt slingers he names Ceferino Garcia, middleweight champ... Henry Armstrong, No. 1 welter... and Lou Ambers, top hand among the lightweights. Most of the others are a dime a dozen in Billy's book.

And Ed Barrow... Yankee mack-jordomo... thinks the other clubs in the American League will need help from the Yanks... much sooner than the Yanks will need help from them. Ed wouldn't trade Marvin Bruer and Tom Reis... right hand pitchers coming up from his Kansas City farm... even up right now... for half the pitchers in the league. Syndicate baseball wouldn't last ten minutes... but syndicate hockey seems to work out all right. Jim Norris, for instance, owns the Detroit Red Wings... owns the rink used by the Chicago Black Hawks... owns a 10 percent interest in the New York Rangers... and the New York Americans owe him about $30,000... imagine Phil Wrigley owning the Cubs, the Giants' Polo Grounds, a 10 percent interest in the Reds and having the Phillies owe him $30,000! What a howl the fans would make if that were the case.

Glenn Cunningham... now 30... is training hard... for a record breaking mile... and he'll have plenty of competition from Chuck Fenske, John Borican and Les MacMillan. And were you aware that Sylvanus Apps... Toronto center... rated by many the best player in hockey... is also a member of the provincial parliament at Ottawa? Al Davis is 5 to 2 over Tippy Larkin... Pat Comiskey a surprising 2 to 1 over Steve Dudas... and Billy Marquart 9 to 5 over Lew Jenkins... for their bouts in the garden manana.

Fordham's football team drew a trophy and a dinner at Jack Dempsey's last yawning... for being the best dressed team seen in New York this year... their gold silk panties, helmets and lettering plus maroon jerseys... setting the femmes aflutter.

Hockey Rule Tight

Jumping over the boards at hockey games hereafter will carry a $25 plaster for players, $50 for coaches and $100 for managers... and Red Rutton... manager-coach of the American... wonders if this new rule wasn't made for his benefit... and wants to know if it will cost him $150 to break it. And why isn't Eleanor Sears... who has played every game under the sun... the most remarkable athlete in the country today... the Boston woman must be in her 50's... and hear we find her battling for a title at squash racquets.

ROME.—With strict gasoline rationing in effect throughout the country, Italian chemists are experimenting with a new type of "super-charcoal" to be used in cars equipped with wood burning apparatus as a substitute for gasoline power. The new product is chemically treated to release additional carbonic oxide from the burning charcoal, which is used as the motive power.

ASTORIA, Ore. — Picturesque reminder of another era of men who go down to the sea in ships, the four-masted schooner Sir Thomas J. Lipton was sold for less than 1 per cent of what she cost to build several decades ago. The report or impression that I have retired from the Life Insurance business is incorrect.

This impression was probably gained from the fact the company recently appointed an additional agent in this county. In fact, I have become a Senior Nylie.

WHEAT, CORN AND SOYBEAN PRICES CONTINUE STRONG UPWARD MOVEMENT

EUROPEAN WAR, DROUGHT CITED FOR BIG CLIMB

Golden Grain Goes To 98 Cents At Circleville Elevators

SOYBEANS PASS DOLLAR

Farmers May Pay Off Loans With Government, One Operator Says

A steady increase in prices offered for wheat, corn and soybeans continued Thursday to interest farmers of Pickaway and other Central Ohio counties, but questioning of elevator operators and grain men failed to reveal the definite cause for the trend that has been upward in the last two months.

The most prevalent answer to the question: "Why the continued gain in the grain price?" brought the response that the European war might be the most probable causes for the climb. One grain dealer declared that the wars had caused all commodities to go up in the last month or so, and that the prices could be expected to be strong as long as the danger of general warfare continues.

Another advanced the suggestion that widespread drought conditions in the Southwest where wheat has not yet germinated properly, and in Argentina where a short crop is reported, might have sent the wheat price higher with corn moving up in sympathy with that trend. No explanation was found for the fact that soybeans had gone higher, too, other than the fact that the war fear might have affected the trend. Another dealer said that about 20 percent of the nation's soybean crop had been exported this year.

Dust Swirls in West

Dust storms have continued to swirl through the Southwest, emphasizing the serious lack of moisture.

Wheat brought a 98 cent cash offer Wednesday and Thursday on the Circleville market, four cents above Tuesday's bid and 20 cents above the figure quoted on October 7, 14 cents above November 7's offer, and six cents above the price offered on December 7, just a week ago.

Corn continued to show strength, yellow corn going to 51 cents, up two over Tuesday and up six over the November 7 figure. White corn continued its trend upward approaching 57 Wednesday afternoon, up two cents from Tuesday.

Soybeans Pass Dollar

The soybean crop went to $1.02 Wednesday, 30 cents above the October 7 date, 18 above November 7, and five above December 7.

One grain dealer pointed out that farmers who have wheat stored under government loans may pay off their loans if they wish and make a profit. The wheat was loaned at 72 cents a bushel, and after storage, interest and handling charges are deducted the farmers may still make a decided profit, the dealer declared. He said that he knew of several countians who had already taken that step.

MILLER FISSELL APPOINTED CITY TRAFFIC OFFICER

Deputy Sheriff To Leave County Position To Take Newly-Created Post

30-DAY NOTICE ISSUED

Herrmann Announced Choice; Council Provides For Seventh Person

Miller Fissell, 317 East Mound Street, was appointed Wednesday evening by Safety Director Karl J. Herrmann as the seventh member of the Circleville police department with traffic as his assignment. Fissell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fissell, is serving now as a deputy sheriff under Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, a position he has held since Radcliff took office January 5, 1931. Prior to that date the appointee had served with Frank Davis when he was sheriff.

Mr. Fissell will begin his new work about January 15, Sheriff Radcliff having received a 30-day notice shortly after the appointment was announced by Mr. Herrmann. The sheriff said that he had not decided who would replace Fissell in his department.

Appointment of the new officer climaxes an effort started over a year ago by Mayor W. B. Cady and members of his official family to have council vote an ordinance to provide a seventh officer who could be assigned to traffic duty. The ordinance was defeated the first time it was voted on, it lost on a technicality the second time it was sent into council, and the third time was successful, receiving four votes out of the seven cast.

Record Outstanding
Deputy Fissell has been an outstanding officer, devoting much time and money to the study of scientific detection of crime.

The notice of appointment handed to him by Mr. Herrmann read: "On November 15 the Council of the City of Circleville passed Ordinance No. 2036 instructing the Director of Public Safety to appoint an additional patrolman to the Police Department of the City of Circleville, whose specific duty shall be to patrol the streets of Circleville on motorcycle or motor car during the day time for the purpose of regulating and controlling traffic."

"Since you have had years of experience along this line of duty and being certified as eligible for appointment by the Civil Service Commission, you are hereby notified of your appointment to this position, effective, January 1, 1940.

"You shall therefore report for duty at that time and as-

COON HUNTING SEASON TO END 14 DAYS EARLY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14 — The coon hunting season today had been cut 14 days by the Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission to prevent threatened depletion of the state's stock of coons.

The season, which opened November 15 and was to close January 15, will be ended January 1 instead, the commission ruled.

Further purchase of western rabbits for restocking purposes was deferred by the commission which also voted to discontinue distribution of pheasant eggs to conservation and sportsmen's organizations. Instead, three-week-old chicks will be distributed.

TANKER GROUNDS IN MISSISSIPPI AT BATON ROUGE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 14 — The "British Officer," an English tanker of 6,990 gross tons, ran aground in the Mississippi River south of Baton Rouge today following a collision, reports reaching steamship offices in New Orleans said.

No details of the collision or extent of damages were available. Ross & Heyn, Inc., agents for the vessel, earlier had refused to name the ship, which had loaded with oil from the Standard Oil Co., docks in Baton Rouge and had sailed this morning.

The British consul in New Orleans confirmed reports of the collision, and gave the name of the tanker as the "British Officer."

Soviet Cruiser At Bottom Of Tallin Port, Claims Helsinki Advises

BIG OFFENSIVE HALTED?

Capital Claims Red Attempt To Split Country Fails Before Defenders

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 14—Aiming at the Murmansk railroad, indispensable link in the Red army's supply system, Finnish troops have smashed across the Soviet frontier above the major battleground of Tolvaajarvi, Finnish quarters asserted today.

Persistent rumors meanwhile said the 8,500-ton Russian cruiser was at the bottom of the port.

HELSINKI FINN CAPITAL
Editor's Note: In order to expedite handling of news reports from Finland, The Daily Herald henceforth will use the native spelling of Helsinki for the Finn capital. The city has two spellings, Helsinki and Helsingfors, the former being preferred.

Kirov, one of the Soviets' largest and newest warships, sank after it was towed into the port of Tallin, Estonia, following a naval battle off Finland's South Coast a fortnight ago.

The submerged wreck is now marked by a light buoy, the report said.

Finland's advance towards the Russian railroad on the East is still going on, Helsinki heard. The railroad reaches from Lenin-grad past the White Sea to Murmansk on the Arctic Ocean.

The line, therefore, is essential to supply Soviet troops operating on the Arctic Front as well as all along the eastern frontier of Finland. At one point on Onega Lake the road is only 45 miles from the Finnish frontier.

Russians Move Ahead
But on the North Front, in spite of the handicap of the Arctic night, the Russians pushed steadily on after the slowly retreating Finns.

Salmijarvi, nickel mining center, was bombed from the air, but the Russians inflicted no damage of importance.

Wreckage of a Russian bombing plane was found in the Esbo forest along the South Coast. Finnish authorities charged that Russian bombers tried to attack a farmhouse filled with evacuees from the nearby town of Ekenaes, but none was hurt.

CHILD ROUTS PROWLER FROM CINCINNATI HOME

CINCINNATI, Dec. 14 — Plucky, 12-year-old Barbara Finch was hailed as a hero by her classmates today because she routed with her bare fists a burglar who had attacked her sick mother.

Mrs. Mary Finch, 47, suffered face lacerations and a possible fractured nose when the burglar beat her with a toy glass pistol. Attracted by her mother's moans, Barbara rushed into the room and struck the prowler, who first attempted to choke the child and then fled before her determined assault. Barbara received a scratch on her face.

LEAGUE EXPELS SOVIET RUSSIA

Reds Termed Aggressors; Action Marks First Of Nature

GENEVA, Dec. 14—Soviet Russia today was expelled from the League of Nations for her invasion of Finland.

The expulsion was carried through under Article XVI of the League Covenant, when the council, with a few abstentions, approved a resolution previously passed by the assembly ejecting Soviet Russia from the organization as an aggressor state.

Finland, China, Yugoslavia and Greece abstained from the vote of expulsion—which marked the first time in the history of the League that the august assemblage had seen fit to expel one of its members.

STATE'S MOVE TO CHANGE PIKE TRIAL SCENE STUDIED

WAVERLY, Dec. 14 — Common Pleas Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, today had under advisement a motion by Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert for a change of venue from Pike County in the trial of Probate Judge Will H. Acord on charges of election irregularities.

Judge Wolf informed Herbert's office that it would take at least 10 days for him to study the law on the matter and make a decision. Judge Acord was one of 15 persons cited by Herbert in connection with alleged election irregularities in Pike County.

In support of his claim for a "fair trial," Assistant Attorney General Simon S. Leis told the court that he had affidavits from 42 persons who contended that one could not be obtained in Pike County.

The attorney general's office contends that several prospective jurors are either relatives or employees of persons who are scheduled to go on trial.

ENTIRE RUMANIAN TOWN STRIKEN AS GAS TANKS BREAK

BERLIN, Dec. 14—Scores—perhaps hundreds—of persons were feared to have died today when several tanks of chlorine exploded in a cellulose factory at Zarnesch near Kronstadt, Transylvania.

A German news agency dispatch from Bucharest, Rumania, reporting the blast, said the factory had been manufacturing gas on a 24-hour basis.

The entire village, said DNB, was gassed, and troops were called out to reinforce fire brigades in the entire Kronstadt district.

It was feared, the report added, that a great number of the village's inhabitants and all the livestock had been killed. Rescue work was described as extremely perilous because of the deadly fumes.

YOUTHS NABBED TO FACE HOLDUP, KIDNAP CHARGES

FINDLAY, Dec. 14—Charged with two robberies and a kidnapping in northwestern Ohio and a holdup shooting in Cincinnati, two youths were held in Findlay under $12,000 bonds today. They were captured last night near Kenton by state highway patrolmen.

A dragnet was set up to effect their capture after a third youth, Tony LaCourt, arrested at Silverton, near Cincinnati, allegedly confessed the shooting and named the other two, Earl Healey, 22, and Clarence Rains, 19, as his accomplices. Their victim, Robert Roberts, 57-year-old Hamilton truck driver, was in serious condition in a Cincinnati hospital.

All three youths live in Cincinnati. The pair held at Findlay was said to have admitted kidnapping and robbing a youth at Toledo, forcing him from his car, and driving his stolen car to Findlay where they obtained $10 in a filling station holdup.

Then, it was said, they took Route 31 toward Kenton in the belief they were heading for Cincinnati. The youths were captured as they approached Kenton.

REICH ENVOY SAYS POISON GAS USED

Raider, Gaining Haven In Uruguay Port, To Seek Permission To Remain During Repairs; 30 Days May Be Required

By Percy Forster

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 14—The British navy suffered heavily in the running sea battle which sent the crack German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee limping into Montevideo crippled by thirteen hits from water-line to bridge, it was revealed today.

While the German minister to Uruguay threatened formal charges that the British had used poison gas shells in the combat between the Graf Spee and four cruisers of the Royal Navy, British Minister Millington Drake disclosed that one of the British ships, the Exeter, was damaged almost as badly as the German battleship and is "out of action."

Details of the first major sea battle of the new war were still obscure, but there was evidence today that the Graf Spee was almost out of fuel and racing for a rendezvous with the German oil tanker Tacoma off the River Plate estuary when she unexpectedly encountered the Exeter.

The Exeter sent out a call for aid, and within a short time the Graf Spee found herself engaged in battle with the Exeter, the Ajax, the Barham and Achilles of the British South Atlantic cruiser squadron.

Early Story Corrected

Early reports that the British had put the Graf Spee out of action possibly for duration of the war without suffering losses themselves were dispelled when Drake visited the Exeter in the outer roads this morning.

He refused information regarding the status of the Ajax, Achilles and Barham, but indicated there were several dead and wounded aboard the Exeter. There apparently was no intention of bringing any of the British vessels into Montevideo, however.

As a check-up showed 38 dead aboard the Graf Spee, with 60 seriously wounded and from 30 to 40 minor casualties, including the battleship's commander, German authorities withdrew their request for internment of the vessel for duration of hostilities.

Britain Admits Losing Destroyer and 120 Men

LONDON, Dec. 14—Although jubilant over reports that a German pocket battleship had been driven to cover at Montevideo, British naval authorities were compelled today to announce the loss of another British destroyer which sank apparently with about 120 members of its crew.

Issuing a series of communiques which told a story of spreading warfare at sea, the admiralty announced that the 1,375-ton destroyer Duchess was sunk following a collision with another unnamed British ship at an unspecified location. The second vessel was not damaged.

The communique said it was feared that the only survivors from the Duchess were one officer and 22 naval ratings. Since the Duchess normally carried a complement of 145 officers and men, it was believed about 120 lives were lost. The admiralty stated the Duchess had left two (Continued on Page Eight)

OFFICIALS BUY FIRE TRUCK FOR RURAL DISTRICT

Trustees, Commissioners in Meeting Wednesday Eve; Price Paid $5,700

ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

County To Pay $1,500 With Townships Not Certain Of Exact Amounts

A group of township trustees and the county commissioners purchased a Seagraves fire truck Wednesday night for use on rural fires and dangerous fires in Circleville.

The truck, to be delivered in 60 to 90 days, will be housed in the Circleville fire department and will be operated on rural runs by a member of the Circleville department. Cost of the truck is about $5,700.

The truck was purchased at a meeting of trustees, clerks and two county commissioners held in the Circleville Township House. The purchase was made by the Volunteer Fire Association organized with James Mowery, Circleville Township, as president; George Shook, Jackson Township, vice president, and A. C. Noecker, Walnut Township, secretary and treasurer.

County to Pay $1,500

Commissioners Ralph May and John Keller, who attended the meeting, agreed to spend $1,500 as the county's share in the cooperative program. The remainder of the cost of the truck will be shared by the townships, but the exact amount each will pay will not be definite until it is determined whether Salt Creek and Harrison townships will participate in the program.

Commissioner C. E. Wright, who opposed spending $1,500 of county money for the truck, did not attend the meeting.

Named as directors of the volunteer fire association are Dan Hinton, Pickaway Township; A. C. Noecker, Walnut Township; Roy Posnaugh, Madison Township; G. F. Reid, Scioto Township; Howard Cupp, Wayne Township; M. M. Bowman, Washington Township; George Shook, Jackson Township; James Mowery, Circleville Township; Ambrose Muhl, Muhlenberg Township, and Ralph May, commissioner.

For many years the Circleville fire department made rural runs using the city's old pumper. This old truck is now out of commission and can be used only as a hose wagon.

'PRAIRIE JUSTICE' MOVIE FOR GRAND TOY PROGRAM

Another toy program is being planned at the Grand Theatre Saturday at 10 a. m. Manager Dick Offenbacher announcing that "Prairie Justice" will be the featured picture.

All children of the city and county who wish to see the show may do so by using a toy for the price of admission. The toys will be given to the firemen to help swell their collection which will be issued to needy children.

JAPANESE SAY SHIP TOLL ON COAST IS ABOUT 750

TOKYO, Dec. 14—Approximately 750 lives were lost, it was estimated today, when the Soviet steamer Indigirka was wrecked on the Hokkaido Coast yesterday after running aground in a storm.

The Japanese steamer Karafuto Maru disembarked 395 survivors at Wakkanai.

State Grangers Listen To Governor Bricker

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—The Ohio State Grange was to conclude its 67th annual session today after selecting the site for its 1940 convention.

At the farm organization's annual banquet last night Governor Bricker spoke briefly and again pointed out that Cleveland's "relief crisis" could have been averted if civic leaders had followed advice of state officials.

"Instead," the governor said, "delegations representing the CIO and AF of L were sent to Columbus to 'raise hell' about the relief situation."

"Cleveland finally decided three days ago to issue notes against tax delinquencies as I directed—but not until two or three months after it was outlined to them."

More than 800 attended the banquet at which awards were made to outstanding grange and their members. Toastmaster at the banquet was Edmund Secrest of the Ohio experiment station at Wooster.

In resolutions adopted yesterday, the grange urged the state department of dairy products; went on record favoring rural electrification, and urged extension of chemurgic research.

In the national field, the grange expressed opposition to centralization of government and urged that the national relief load be lessened. More resolutions were to be adopted today.

Joseph B. Morton, 86, Mt. Vernon, a grange member for 67 years, was declared the oldest among the estimated 3,000 in attendance.

Granges receiving awards in the national improvement contest included Alton, Riverside of Bell-point and Newark. Winners in the booster contest were Portage county's Ravenna group and Green Springs Grange, Seneca County.

We are listing the several church Christmas exercises as they are to be held in Ashville and surrounding territory and as soon as the list is complete, which will be within the next few days, it will appear here. Have learned that the St. Paul and Marcy churches will have their exercises on Sunday evening, December 24. Also South Bloomfield.

Ashville—Henry Nothstine as a young man a teacher in Madison Township, and for the last good many years a farm resident in Mancelona, Michigan is expected here within the next few days for an extended visit.

Ashville—James Hickman is building an addition to his home and as to why your guess may be even better than ours. Jim is one of the reliable employees with the local Hedges Lumber Company and it's a pretty good guess that the plans he is making are just about right.

Ashville—Saw an ear of popcorn today that in both color and shape is as much like a strawberry as can be. And when popped and served with cream and sugar, it's the real thing. So why worry about dollar a quart strawberries in January when an ear of this strawberry popcorn can be bought for a quarter. They tell us that ordinary rice popcorn fertilized with strawberry pollen will produce this kind of corn. And we'll bet that Fred Richey and Roger Hedges the local corn breeders, know all about how this corn came into being.

Ashville—Mrs. H. O. Harbaugh's Sunday school class of the Methodist Church composed of some sixty members, held their regular monthly meeting at the church yesterday evening. The members of the class who entertained and served lunch were: Mrs. Alice Spindler, Mrs. Clara Rihl, Mrs. Bernice Messick, Mrs. Mildred Morrison, Mrs. Agnes Dailey, Mrs. Virginia Silbaugh.

Ashville—The Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran Church held their regular annual meeting yesterday at the church serving a pot-luck dinner. The officials as selected for the coming year are: president, Rev. Fudge; first vice president, Mrs. Mattie Clark; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Esther Pontius; secre-

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

A bright, melodious host of grand old songs, known to oldsters and youngsters alike because they have become increasingly popular through the years, and four new songs, destined to rank in the hit class, will be sung and danced to in the great new Bing Crosby comedy drama, "The Star Maker" which Paramount will present on Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre.

The old songs are the work of Gus Edwards, the famous showman whose amazing career suggested the story of the picture. Bing will be heard singing such tuneful Edwards' numbers as "School Days," "In My Merry Oldsmobile," "Look Out for Jimmy Valentine," "If I Was a Millionaire," "I Can't Tell Why I Love You But I Do," "130, her 2-year-old daughter Max-

Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," "Tammany" and many others. In several of the numbers, he will be accompanied by outstanding groups of child singers, assembled especially for the picture.

The new songs which Bing will sing in the picture the work of Johnny Burke and James V. Monaco, ace song writing team. Entitled "Still the Bluebird Sings," "An Apple for the Teacher," "Go Fly a Kite" and "A Man and His Dreams," they already rank in the hit class. As in the case of the old songs, Bing will have child singers furnishing vocal background.

RUSSIANS RULE POLISH REGION BY ROUGH HAND

Ukraine District Is Being Sovietized By Ruthless Red Methods

800 PERSONS EXECUTED

5,000 Exiled In District For Resisting, Stories Of Residents Say

CERNAUTI, Rumania Dec. 14—Political commissars are showing no mercy in sovietizing the Polish Ukraine.

This is revealed in the accounts of several refugees who have recently escaped into Rumania by crossing the Dniester river at night.

All tell similar stories of summary treatment to those resisting collectivization; 800 executed and 5,000 exiled into the interior of Russia or Siberia are the most conservative estimate made to date.

Peasant committees are formed in each village have dealt severely with former landlords and alleged kulaks. While supervising trials, Russian commissars have allowed the Ukrainians to form their own courts for dealing with local "enemies of the people."

Poles Suffer Most

Class hatred and local grudges account for much of the brutality, but Poles living in the Ukraine have suffered the most. Before the arrival of the Russians, Ukrainians attacked many Polish villages, burned the houses, and shot the inhabitants outright. This has now been stopped, but all Poles are being moved out of the Ukraine.

Young men and women commissars, party instructors, representatives of the Komsomol (Soviet youth), and secret police were sent from Moscow immediately after the entry of the Red Army. Setting up headquarters at Lwow, they systematically organized village Soviets, started classes in Communism, and began the process of collectivization.

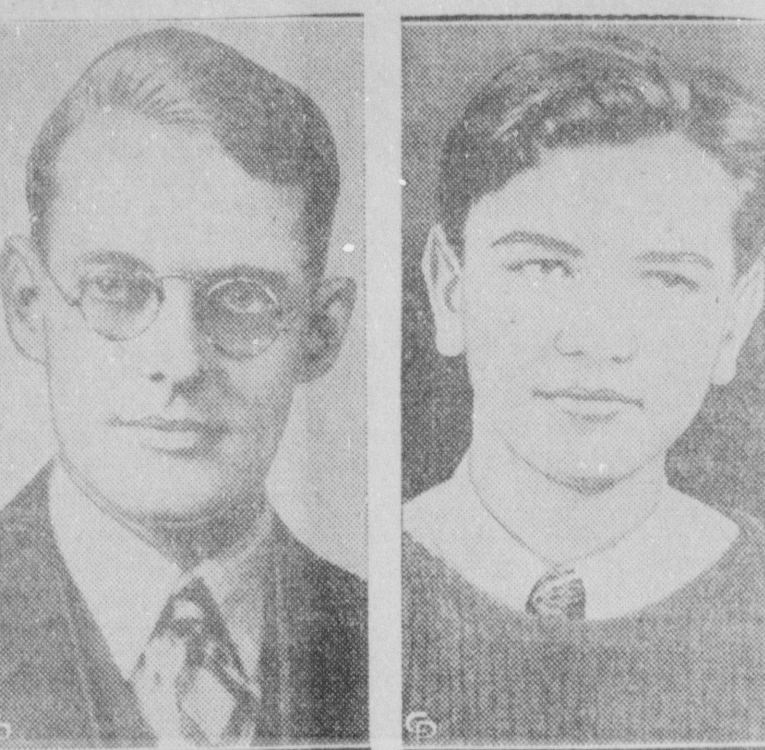

Peasants, who had believed only the property of the wealthy would be taken, were disillusioned when forced to submit lists of their own personal belongings, and many attempted to resist. These minor revolts were quickly crushed, but there are daily traits of those accused of passive resistance and sabotage.

Refugees state that no attempt will be made to establish large collective farms until spring, but that peasants have already been notified they must be prepared to join one of those institutions at that time.

Huge pictures of Stalin have replaced those of Pilsudski in all public buildings; Russian movies are shown in the cinemas; and "to-varich" is now the common greeting instead of "pan".

Rumors published abroad that Radek, brilliant former editor of

Two Dead in "William Tell" Case

Scoutmaster Hackett

SCOUTMASTER Daniel Hackett, Jr., 29, and Boy Scout Norval Harrison, 15, are dead following what authorities believe was an attempt to emulate the feat of legendary William Tell—shooting an apple off a boy's head. Harrison was found shot in Hackett's room and shortly after Hackett shot himself fatally. An apple suspended by a string at the level of young Harrison's height was found dangling from the ceiling of Hackett's room. The two were close friends.

COUNCIL IN MEETING TO VOTE ORDINANCES

A special meeting of city council was held Wednesday night for passage of two ordinances declaring the necessity of bond issues. Both were approved.

One bond issue is for $4,000, the money to be used to purchase a small fire truck. This truck would be used on small fires. The present pumper has too large a capacity for the amount of water available in some of the outlying districts.

The second ordinance provides a $2,000 bond issue for the city's share of expenses for improvement of streets under WPA.

With only the two ordinances up for consideration the session of council was brief.

THEY 'MAKE YOU SICK'

PHILADELPHIA.—Unpleasant situations or persons really do "make you sick," according to Temple University professors. The body has a kind of "organ language" for compensating tension or emotional strain, according to Dr. Edward Weiss, of Temple medical school. Emotional difficulties can cause body disturbances which "mimic almost any disease," he explained.

Pravda who was convicted as a counter-revolutionary, was in charge of Sovietizing Polish Ukraine have not been supported by the testimony of any refugee with whom this correspondent talked.

Although disappointed and frightened, the Ukrainians who are now completely disarmed, are so heavily policed that it is believed there is little possibility of a revolt.

"The cause of Ukrainian nationalism is now at its lowest ebb," said a refugee here, "it had little hope under the Poles, but it has no chance whatsoever under the Russians."

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Continued from Page Six) skin of his teeth, considers himself a contender for the vice-presidential nomination.

IN A DITHER

Chairman Arthur Altmeyer of the Social Security Board is in a terrible dither.

You can appreciate just how nervous he must be by the fact that although he has adamantly opposed liberalizing pensions in the past he is now frantically figuring how to increase them. Specifically, by $39,000,000 worth.

Last spring, when social security revision was under consideration, Altmeyer trotted out a batch of amendments which he solemnly assured the President, and congressional leaders, and Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt, would pay out $114,000,000 to needy aged in 1940. There was considerable private skepticism about Altmeyer's claim. But he insisted he knew what he was talking about, so other proposals were ditched and his amendments approved.

Now, with only a few weeks remaining before these much-touted amendments go into effect, it develops that Altmeyer's calculations were all wet. Instead of $114,000,000, actually not more than $74,000,000 will be paid out.

And not all of that will be pensions, only $35,000,000 going for that purpose. The remaining $39,000,000 will go to surviving relatives of deceased annuitants.

In other words, Altmeyer's amendments have turned out to be a complete flop when it comes really liberalizing the pension system. The payments will be a drop in the bucket compared to the hundreds of millions of dollars that will be shipped into an idle Treasury fund through social security taxes.

ALTMAYER UNDER FIRE

So Altmeyer is in a terrible stew to find some way to cover up his fiasco. If he doesn't it may mean his scalp. He already is under heavy fire from several powerful quarters.

Pension forces are sour on him because of his hostility to liberalizing the pension system. McNutt, critical because of the millions of "John Doe" (unidentifiable) pension accounts cluttering up Social Security records, wants to clean out the whole Social Security Board and replace it with one man.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

of his own choice. And, with an election in the offing, Roosevelt and the politicians are sure to be sore when they discover just how badly Altmeyer misled them.

Note—Chairman Bob Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee has ordered Altmeyer to submit a report giving a complete picture of the "John Doe" situation and the Social Security financial set-up.

BRITISH-U. S. PLANES

Latest device of the British, in taking delivery of planes built in the United States, is to tow them across the Canadian border on barges, principally at Detroit and Buffalo.

This is now found preferable to the trick of pushing them over the line at the Montreal airport located at the border.

Both devices have resulted from the U. S. ruling that planes sold to belligerents may not be flown into or from the United States. So the only way to export them without dismantling is to shove, pull, coast or tow them across the Canadian border.

The Montana airport at first was an easy solution of the problem. Planes could be flown there from U. S. plants by U. S. pilots, while still U. S. property. Then the transfer of title was made on the spot, the Canadians fastening a rope to the plane and pulling it across the border. Canadian or British pilots climbed aboard and flew the plane away.

But the Montana airport is high and cold, and the weather is bad for flying. So the British are now taking delivery of planes onto barges and towed across to the Canadian side.

CONSERVANCY'S FUTURE HINGES ON STATE MOVE

Residents Of 18 Counties Demand Relief From Tax Assessments

RULING UP TO HERBERT

Charge Of Inefficiency In Operation Denied By Officials

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14.—The future of the Muskingum Conservancy District rested today in the hands of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert as taxpayers pressed for relief from the burden of assessments to maintain the flood control project in 18 Central Ohio counties.

Key to the problem apparently rested in an opinion requested from Herbert as to whether officials of the district held the power under present laws to turn over to the federal government the 14 dams and adjacent land contained in the flood control project. Federal authorities already have agreed to accept the district and place it under the jurisdiction of the war department.

Plight of taxpayers in scores of communities which had pledged support to the program was outlined at a joint senate-house committee hearing at which several requests were made for a special session of the legislature in January to deal with the problem.

Ruling Awaited

The committee, headed by Sen. Walter G. Nickels (R-Tuscarawas), adjourned until the week after Christmas to await a ruling from Herbert on the matter. It was explained that if the district had the power to deed the project to the federal government, the problem would be solved.

Action on the investigation was forced by the Muskingum Valley Association, a taxpayers group, headed by G. L. Lodgson, of Zanesville. Representatives from other cities in the district attended the session to present their views on the flood control project. Officials of the conservancy district denied before the committee charges made by the association that had been operated inefficiently and that some property acquired for the flood control project had been appraised "far above ordinary commercial value."

Speaking for officials of the district, B. C. Browning, secretary of the organization contended that most property owners had complaints on file today.

Judge Robert B. Putnam, of Millersburg, presiding judge of the conservancy district court, which has jurisdiction over the project, urged the committee to ask for a special session of the legislature as soon as possible to enact legislation that would settle the flood control problem permanently.

Special Session Asked

C. A. Fisher, chief counsel for the conservancy district, also recommended that a special session be called on the matter.

"Is this issue of such public interest that it should be done immediately?" Chairman Nickels asked Fisher.

"I believe it is," Fisher replied. Fisher added, however, that a favorable opinion by the attorney general might settle the transfer problem, but that the legislature might still have to take action to make certain to insure that the state obtain conservational and recreational benefits from the flood district.

It was explained that 10 fair-sized artificial lakes had been created by the program which could be used by Ohioans some day for fishing, swimming and boating.

Officials of the conservancy board made it clear to the committee that they were unwilling to turn over the lands to the federal government without written assurances that all obligations incurred by the district would be paid. Bonds outstanding total nearly $4,000,000.

Col. Joseph D. Arthur, representing the U. S. war department, told the committee he was "reasonably certain" there would be no additional assessments levied against property owners once the federal government took over the project.

Lytle in Warning

Mayor W. J. Lytle of Urichsville, warned the committee that unless something were done soon, the state might be confronted again with a taxpayers "strike"

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

SICK CAESARS

At the next session your Congressman will be under pressure from the left for the Wagner so-called "Health" bill. Before making further costly experiments in national socialism at home we might pause in our mad rush and contemplate its results abroad.

I urge you to read "Health Under Hitler" in the December Readers Digest and then to urge your Congressman to read it. It is a summary of a forthcoming book by Dr. Martin Gumpert, formerly head of the Berlin City Dispensary for deformity diseases. Every fact in it is said to be supported entirely from official and scientific German publications which somehow escaped the censor.

This article is the most astonishing unmasking of state medicine I have ever seen. But more than that it is a devastating indictment of the whole theory of the supposed efficiency of the super state. It takes Caesar off parade.

Even if you are interested only in the question of, how long can Caesar fight, read this article. The Socialists in American medicine are promising gaudy results if you put them on the payroll. But "let us look at the record." Hitler came to power in January 1933. By 1937 scarlet fever had increased 47 percent, and diphtheria 90 percent. The diphtheria mortality rate is now four times greater than in the United States where we are not yet blessed with political medicine. Honorable Paul McNutt, please note. And this is the record in the country whose scientists gave diphtheria antitoxin to her world!

Well, we have heard much of the "strength through joy" movement and the bubbling vitality of the Jungvolk and the Hitlerjugend. Children under Caesar are supposed to flourish under long marches with heavy packs and a Spartan regimen beginning when they are six years old. But do they? Not according to Dr. Gumpert. The feet of Caesar's cannon fodder are breaking down. More than 70 percent of the against assessments and levies of all kinds. The investigation originally was ordered by the legislature because of such a strike at Newcomers-town. "The taxpayers back home are getting mighty tired of the way the legislators, both state and foreign are doing things," Lytle declared. "These cities can't stand much tax burdens long."

After six years of the "health giving" Nazi rule the total death rate has increased until 80,000 more persons now die annually in the new Germany than in the old. And, women readers, here is something for you especially. German women are on a strike against motherhood. Despite the effort of the state to increase marriage and propagation by taxing bachelors, distinctions for mothers, and credits for marriage, yet marriages and births have both declined since Hitler came to power.

If Dr. Gumpert is correct, it is plain that the German people are worked out. They have reached the limit of their physical and psychic powers. They have made a heroic effort to rebuild their prestige after Versailles. But from these facts it does not seem possible that Germany can win a war of exhaustion. If that is the war we are to have the plight of these millions who have accepted a Spartan discipline, and especially their children, will be so terrible that even the hates engendered by war ought not to dull our mercy!

SAMEUL B. PETTENGILL.

HOW TO HELP FINLAND

OUR British friends have such a way with them, and the sense of power is so great in London, that American diplomats have sometimes lost their sense of direction in the Strand and Downing Street. The Irish, however, are likely to know their way about and keep their heads in that environment.

Anyway, Ambassador Joe Kennedy, on a trip back home to report on the European mess, seems to have kept his head on straight. He told an audience in Boston:

"This is not our war. We must stay out of it. There is no place in it for us. You women, as you love America, don't let any propaganda that comes out of any country in the world make you believe that you can make the situation one whit better by getting us into the war."

He adds, to newspaper men: "There is no argument, whether social, political, economic or financial, why we should go in. I don't think there is anyone in America closer to the situation than I, and I am prepared to answer any argument in favor of American participation. Above all things the American people should not act emotionally."

Help the Finns — yes! But through such work as Herbert Hoover is doing. For the rest, help with sympathy and clear vision. And when it's over, help to bind up the wounds.

JUNGLE OFFICE HOURS

THE progress of civilization is depressing in some ways. Carveth Wells, in his travels about the world, finds that the jungle doesn't change but every thing else does. For example:

When he was surveying a road in the Malay Peninsula some years ago, he sent word to the native chief that he wanted to see him, and the chief promptly came to his camp bearing gifts. Lately Wells visited the same spot again, and when he sent word to the chief the runner came back with the message that the chief's office hours were 9 to 5:30 and he would be glad to see the explorer in his office.

Maybe this is progress, but it certainly isn't romance.

OPPORTUNITY

WE see by the papers that Carole Lombard is quoted as saying:

"It's all right to earn $150,000 a picture, but money is not essential to me and Clark. We would be just as happy on $10,000."

Gosh, what a set-up for some college president yearning to build a new chemical laboratory or something! It shouldn't be

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

NO PEACE IN SIGHT

WASHINGTON—The confidential report which Ambassador Joe Kennedy brought to Roosevelt was anything but optimistic. Contrary to rumor, Kennedy did not report any possibility of peace in Europe by April.

On the contrary, he told the President that people on either side had not yet suffered enough to want peace very poignantly. He emphasized the fact that the populations of both sides have to feel real privation before they will make the necessary sacrifices for peace.

One thing about which the Ambassador was very positive was the fact that business was going to pot in Europe, and that the present capitalist system in Europe was in grave danger. He did not deny the possibility of revolution behind the lines if the war drags on too long.

NOTE—Kennedy did not report on this to President Roosevelt, but he, personally, has felt the effects of long, grueling hours in blacked-out London. He has been suffering from stomach trouble, and has lost ten pounds. He finds it impossible to spare time for exercise except at night, and has taken to horseback riding in the evening. Once while riding in the dark, his horse stumbled and he had a bad spill.

NEW DEAL FOOTBALL

Biggest hit at the recent Gridiron Club dinner was 32-year-old Governor Stassen of Minnesota. His comparison of football teams brought down the house.

First he told about the famous football eleven of the University of Minnesota. Then he switched, very subtly, to football as played in Washington, naming Ickes, Murphy, Farley, Morgenthau and other star players on the team.

"Of course," he said, "it looks as if only the quarterback understood the signals."

"And then there is Professor Moley, who scores a New Deal touchdown behind their own goal-posts."

"But the most spectacular play of all was when Ickes tackled McNutt just after he had received a delayed forward pass."

POLITICAL GO-ROUND

After a three-day stay in the Capital, including a visit to the White House, canny Alf Landon is telling friends that he is convinced Roosevelt will again be the Democratic standard-bearer next year.

While in Los Angeles, Senator H. Styles Bridges said "howdy" to a number of big shot Southern California GOP leaders, but the biggest one eluded him. Harry Chandler, multi-millionaire publisher, declined an invitation on the ground of a previous engagement—which turned out to be a trustees' meeting at Leland Stanford University. . . . The presidential bug certainly plays strange tricks. Secretary Harry Woodring, who has been hanging on to his War portfolio by the any trick at all to pull down half a million or so from that golden bough. And as long as they're in that impractical state of mind, Prex might just as well have it for his group building program, before some conscienceless real estate man or stock broker gets it.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an

Antiquated Reporter;

Up before daybreak, having found the night entirely too long. A quiet house to myself, and after a while along came the morning prints which did scan until the breakfast gong. Except for the glorious fight being put up by the Finns the world news is not so exciting these days. No one ever imagined the beat of that war in Europe that had developed into a war of claims and counter claims.

At the post met Les May, the Fleetwing gasoline king, he being all smiles as usual. Chatted with Bill Murray and asked whether he had written his letter to Santa. "No," said Bill. "We had a fight when we were kids and haven't corresponded since."

Received a card from Dr. Bales, who is collecting shells at Marathon, Fla., saying he had a pleasant trip down and that the weather is perfect. Doc is one of the nation's outstanding shell collectors and hopes to pick up some new ones this winter. He does every year. Also came a Herald renewal subscription from Doris Barton in Birmingham, Ala. "Miss all our friends and often wish we could be back in Circleville," she pens.

Chatted with Charlie Mack and with him inspected the suite of rooms above his fine shoe store. Charlie is undecided as to just what he should do with the four rooms—make them into offices or an apartment. Anyway, he has remodeling in mind.

Learned that Miller Fissell is to assume duties as a policeman next month. He now is one of Charlie Radcliff's deputies and while serving in that capacity accumulated much valuable police equipment. Miller also for years has made a real study of crime prevention and detection. Because of his interest in the work and his ability the city has gained a highly valuable officer.

Now, the Chamber of Commerce is taking a hand in the movement to obtain uniforms for the high school band. That means the uniforms will be obtained. The city should be proud of those kids and their very competent instructor. They are good musicians and always are more than willing to cooperate in any civic undertaking. I often have wondered why we don't make some use of the musicians developed at the high school. The kids are graduated and on that day must put aside their musical instruments and forget their training. Why can't we use them in a community band? And, too, I have often wondered why educators believe that athletic training is more important to pupils than a musical training. A boy can not play football or basketball all of his life. But he can get a lifetime of pleasure out of music. I am one of those who believe that music appreciation is slightly more important than football appreciation. Yet, the school, through its athletic association, spends hundreds of dollars a year on the athletic teams and not a red penny on the band. It is time something should be done to encourage the young musicians.

Amoebic Dysentery a Constant Menace

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Please tell me something about amoebic dysentery and its treatment.

Amoebic dysentery is a constant source of trouble and reinfection by amoeba carriers. While it is, strictly speaking, a tropical disease, we have enough carriers in the United States to make a pool of infection which can at any moment spread. After the big epidemic of dysentery in 1933 and 1934, the patients were released and there are still a few of them that are proving to be a problem.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

As late as 1937 some presented themselves for treatment because of recurrence of their symptoms. They were evidently suffering from chronic amoebic dysentery, which may follow a severe acute attack. In the chronic form there are recurrent attacks of dysentery with intervals when there may actually be constipation.

The treatment of carriers is not the same as the treatment of those with clinical symptoms.

Treating White Spots on the Hands

What is the treatment for white spots on the hands?

White spots on the skin, usually the backs of the hand and the neck, technically called "vitiligo," have not yielded very well to treatment. About the best that can be done is to advise painting the spots with the juice of walnut husks or some other dye to conceal them. Solution of potassium permanganate of proper strength can be used for this purpose.

Attempts to tan these spots have been made for many years. The trouble is that the real nature of the trouble is a disturbance of pigmentation. The spots resist the action of light, both ultra-violet lights and the sun's rays. The injection of dyes into the bloodstream has been tried. Lindsay, in 1929, reported the cure of a case by the injection of gold sodium thiosulfate, and Cohen reported another similar successful case in 1933.

Eruptions in the Webbing of Fingers

What causes blistering and cobblestone eruptions in the webbing of the fingers?

Dermatitis in the webs of the fingers, along the sides of the fingers, may be due either to ringworm infection, dermatitis, venenata, eczema or pompholyx.

Ringworm infections can be ruled out or confirmed by examining the scrapings in the tops of the vesicles. Dermatitis venenata is dermatitis due to contact with plants; the history of contact is important. These winter days the commonest is probably primrose. Other irritants will produce a vesicular dermatitis; so is the commonest offender.

Pompholyx or dyshidrosis consists of small blisters that form in an itchy eruption. It is probable that it is really a form of ringworm. It used to be frequently diagnosed but of late ringworm fungi have been found so often in cases of this kind that many have come to believe that all such cases are caused by fungi.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

By Marie Blizard

THE CHARACTERS:
FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful.
NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.
ELLEN CHAPMAN, young and capable mistress of Willoughby house.
DR. BILL MALLORY, close friend of Ellen's.

YESTERDAY: Fabienne knows she is falling in love with Bill, tries to fight it off for Ellen's sake.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

AFTER PRUNELLA closed the door back of her, Fabienne reached for the lamp switch on her bedside table. She took a mirror from the drawer and held it up to her face. Only anxiety showed there, and some of her shock. So her love for Bill Mallory showed in her face, did it?

She put the mirror away and lay in darkness, knowing, admitting that she did love Bill. And she knew it took no second sight for anyone to read it, knowing that in her unguarded moments, her thoughts must have been written in her eyes.

If Prunella had seen it, Ellen, too, must have been aware of it. And Bill? No, not Bill. She had been careful of that, leaning backward in her effort to keep from him what she felt. Also a man was not as likely, as a woman would be, to know what those swift changes, those lights in her eyes, those tender smiles would mean.

A woman in love would know. Ellen would know. Ellen had never said that she was in love with Bill. But wasn't her easy camaraderie, their long intimacy, those looks of unspoken understanding enough to convince Fabienne that theirs was a love that needed no announcement?

Ellen—Ellen, who was such a good, kind, understanding friend; Ellen, who had been closer to her than any other girl she had ever known; Ellen who had given her work that gave her life meaning, and who had even taken her into her home, nursed her when she was ill. Her thoughts were filled with Ellen and they were compounded of gratitude and affection and shame.

On the fringe of that tapestry of thought, there was the image of Bill. Telling herself that she did love him—even though she knew that he was not for her—she would like to have taken out her memories like treasures and fondled them, cherishing the remembrance of his touch, his tenderness; delighting her mind's eye with a gallery of pictures of him: Bill at the clinic in his white coat with his kindly eyes and slow smile, silencing her fears and promising healing; Bill with his hat brim snapped over his eyes, his trench coat collar carelessly turned up as he walked with her one snowy, still night; Bill sitting beside her bed during those long, feverish nights, giving her his strength.

No, she must not think of that while there was Ellen, Ellen whom she had hurt so much.

It must end now. She must go away. Bill said that she couldn't go back to the settlement house for some time, that she ought to go south and get some warm sunshine. But she couldn't do that; there was the little theater nearing its completion—and there was also the fact that she was without funds. Of course, she knew that she could always get money from Uncle Mark or Gertrude.

She wouldn't go south, but she would leave Ellen's apartment. The problem was how to do it without making her reason obvious.

The solution came from a quarter she least expected. Two days after the long night she had spent in unhappy speculation, Dick came down from Harvard and told her that he was going to be married at once and leave for Chili.

He came in at supper time when Bill and Ellen were keeping Fabienne

"No more holidays for me," Dick said gaily. "I'm going to work."

biemme company at a card table set up beside her couch.

"My two very good friends, Ellen Chapman and Dr. Mallory, I want you to meet my brother, Dick," she said, kissing Dick and holding him at arm's length. "And what's the meaning of this? I didn't know there were any holidays this week?"

"No more holidays for me," he said gaily. "I'm going to work."

"Work?" She hadn't taken him seriously. Seymour men never worked. They raised horses or served on boards.

"My girl's old man is giving me a job with his company in Chili. Brenda and I are going to be married a week from Saturday. We're sailing the following Monday. Incidentally, Fab, she's a swell person. She wants you to be a bridesmaid."

Fabienne's thoughts were in a state of utter confusion. "A little slower, please, darling. Is this the Haviland girl who lives in California?"

He nodded proudly.

"But I don't even know her," Fabienne protested. "And she wants me to be a bridesmaid? I don't believe I'll be able to get to California in that time."

"The wedding is going to be here. At the apartment."

"What apartment?" Fabienne asked patiently.

"Mother's apartment, of course."

"But mother hasn't an apartment. At least, it's rented to the Derwentas."

"Was," he told her. "They've gone to Arizona. I called mother in Paris last night. She's sailing for home day after tomorrow. Brenda's mother is dead and so mother is going to give her the wedding."

Yes, Fabienne thought, mother would. She remembered her mother's Christmas letter and her hopes for her son. ("The Havildans have tons of money.")

Dick was saying apologetically, "I'd just as soon get married at the City Hall, but you know how girls are. We'll be in the wilds for some time, so Brenda wants a big show before she goes. Bridesmaids and veil and church wedding. All that stuff."

Belatedly, Fabienne caught her

brother's hand and gave it a little squeeze. "The best of luck to you, Dick! I'd love to be a bridesmaid at your wedding."

"When you and Nicky get married, send me a wire and I'll do the same for you. How is the old boy?"

"Very fine," she said, looking neither at Ellen nor Bill, but managing enthusiasm in her voice for their benefit. "I haven't seen him for a month and I miss him. I expect he'll be here shortly. I'd like him to be here for the wedding. Any family party without Nicky wouldn't seem right. He—he belongs, doesn't he?" When she finished her effort there were spots of pink showing on the thin bones of her face.

"They've been sweethearts since they were kids," Dick explained to Ellen and Bill.

Fabienne lowered her eyes, not denying it, hoping that Ellen would think what she wanted her to. "Now what about you, sis? Had a cold?"

Bill said, "She nearly had pneumonia."

Fabienne said, "It wasn't too serious, Dick. Not worth troubling you all about. Ellen and Bill have taken very good care of me between them."

"It looks as if they did. . . . You got a cozy place here," Dick told Ellen frankly, scrutinizing the big, pleasant room.

"I like it better since Fabienne came to live with me," Ellen answered, smiling at the girl on the couch. "It was big and lonesome before."

"I've liked it, too," Fabienne said steadily, meeting Ellen's eyes across the room. "I'm going to miss it when I go."

"GO?" Bill and Ellen said it together.

"Where are you going?" Dick put the rest of the question.

"Why, back to mother's, of course," she said simply.

Back to mother's big, beautiful apartment, away from the first real home she had ever had, away from those morning breakfasts with Ellen and Bill. Back to a life she no longer wanted so that Ellen would never again see her look at Bill and know that she loved him.

Presby-Weds Enjoy Talk On Scotland's Customs

Margaret Rooney On Program At Meeting

An outstanding meeting of the Presby-Weds was held Wednesday in the social room of the Presbyterian Church, the highlight of the evening being the talk on "Scotland" by Miss Margaret Rooney.

Miss Rooney mentioned in opening her talk that she chose to talk of Scotland at the meeting because of the historical background of the Presbyterian Church in that country. She discussed this in connection with the churches she had visited in the country, and also told of her visit to the birthplace of John Knox, an outstanding leader of the early church in Scotland.

Her descriptions of churches, castles and universities which she had visited were particularly interesting, especially the portion of her talk devoted to Edinburgh. She spoke of visiting Loch Lomond and many other historically interesting spots.

In closing, Miss Rooney spoke of the warmth of feeling existing in Circleville and other places in the United States between the members of the Catholic and Protestant churches in contrast to the bitter coldness of those of Scotland.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey were hosts for the evening, many newcomers being included in the group of 25 seated for the cooperative dinner at 6:30 p. m.

A colorful Christmas tree and cheery winter bouquets were the attractive table decorations.

Donald H. Watt, president, was in the chair for the business session when plans were discussed for the January session. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Price will be hosts at the meeting which will be Wednesday, January 10, at the church. The usual cooperative dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Ebenezer Social Circle

Mrs. Harry Montelius was elected president of the Ebenezer Social Circle Wednesday at the business meeting, held in connection with the annual Christmas party of the group at Gold Cliff Chateau. Chosen to assist her for the coming year were Mrs. Harvey Dresbach, vice president; Miss Alda Bartley, secretary; Mrs. Eva Dresbach, treasurer and Mrs. James Pierce, pianist.

Mrs. Cliff Miller was hostess for the affair which included a covered dish dinner at noon. Holiday greens formed the appropriate decorations for the party.

Twenty-eight members and five visitors were present. Mrs. Turney L. Pontius, president, was in the chair for the opening of the business hour and presided during the election. After group singing of a Christmas hymn, Mrs. Pontius read the Christmas story from the second chapter of St. Matthew.

The business hour closed with a quartet selection by Mrs. George Jury, Mrs. Marvin Dreisbach, Mrs. Charles Dresbach and Mrs. George Bennett. The shadow sisters were revealed and gifts exchanged. The place for the January session will be announced after the new officers have arranged the calendar of monthly meetings.

Union Guild Meets

Christmas greens and various symbols made the attractive holiday setting for the December session of the Union Guild when it met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Cupp of Wayne Township. Mrs. Cupp was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Roy Rittinger of the same community.

Twenty members and guests were present, the meeting being opened by Mrs. Lee Winks with group singing of Christmas carols. The Christmas story was told by Mrs. Roy Newlon, who read the scripture lesson from second Matthew. The Lord's prayer in unison closed the devotions. The members answered roll call by telling the things they liked best about Christmas.

During the brief business session plans were made for a lunch stand at the E. A. Ballou sale Tuesday, December 19. The proceeds will be used to provide clothing for needy children. Two readings, "The Extras" by Mrs. Roy Rittinger and "Woman Wise," by Mrs. Paul Counts were enjoyed during the program hour. Mrs. Leo Hodgson, a guest, became a member of the guild at this session. Carol singing by the group closed the meeting. Contests arranged by Mrs.

SKIRTS aren't as simple as they used to be. Some are balloon, full above the knees in daytime styles and above the ankles in short, dancing-length dresses. The hobble, split and harem skirts are other newcomers, the last being a feature of the very wearable crepe pictured. It's a modified adaptation at that, giving more of an impression of front fullness than of the harem hem. Bands are criss-crossed for pretty sleeves, a narrow girdle, wrapped twice and tied at the waist, contributing further softness. Such frocks for afternoon and cocktails cry for uplifting hats like the rose-trimmed model shown.

Various games and contests were planned for the early evening entertainment, cards being enjoyed during the later hours.

Miss Wright served a salad lunch.

It was Bowshier who led the Auto Supply outfit to victory, the former Atlanta ace getting five buckets and three free tosses for a 13 total. He was ably assisted by Campbell the other forward until he left the game on personals.

BUCKEYE SCHOOL ARRANGING HUGE ATHLETIC CLINIC

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Ohio State University athletic officials today made arrangements for the annual basketball, swimming and wrestling clinics which will be held at the university Saturday.

Coaches and athletic directors from hundreds of high schools will attend the clinics which will be featured Saturday night by a basketball game between Ohio State and Wooster.

The clinic will be supervised by Harold G. Olsen, Scarlet and Gray coach, Mike Peppe, Ohio State swim mentor, will direct the swimming clinic while B. F. Moon, wrestling coach, has charge of the wrestling clinic.

$100,000 GATE EXPECTED FOR GARCIA-LEE FIGHT

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 14—Advance ticket sales today assured a $100,000 gate for the Ceferin Garcia-Glenn Lee middleweight championship bout in Manila stadium December 23.

The fight of the Filipino champion, whose world title is recognized only by New York and California, and the Nebraska, originally scheduled for Saturday, was postponed a week because it was feared Jack Dempsey would fail to arrive on the original date to referee the bout. The ex-heavyweight champion was grounded for six days in San Francisco because of inclement flying weather. He took off Monday on the Philippine Clipper. The plane is scheduled to arrive Saturday night.

Awards Voted To Wesleyan Gridders

DELAWARE, Dec. 14—Ohio Wesleyan university's athletic board today had approved the granting of awards to 28 varsity football players and to 23 members of the freshman grid squad. Awards will be made at the annual banquet Friday night.

Seventeen of the varsity group won the "W". They are Jimmy Reiser, New Philadelphia, end and co-captain; Walt Oberer, Detroit, Mich.; tackle; Ray Rebol, Bridgeport, tackle; Walt Maerki, Cincinnati, center; Les Michael, Mechanicsburg, fullback; Harold Epler, Cincinnati, guard; Jack Patterson, Toledo, quarterback.

Jim Campbell, Piqua, halfback; Bill Martt, Zanesville, guard; Bert Kessel, Baldwin, N. Y., end and co-captain; Johnny Zimmerman, Dennison, fullback; Harold Bartlett, Warren, tackle; Bob Zimmerman, Urbana, guard; Jimmy Rike, Chattanooga, Tenn., halfback; Joe Markley, Marietta, quarterback; Bob Heisler, Ravenna, fullback; and Stan Nichols, Shelton, Conn., guard.

Dick Galleher, Findlay, senior manager of the varsity team, also was given a "W" for his work.

The 23 freshmen recommended for numerals are Carl Beck and Robert Goerge, both of Bellaire; William Berkley, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Ralph Copp and Robert Owen, both of Dayton; John Chupa, Lorain; Richard Drake, Worthington; Ralph Gmeiner, Detroit, Mich.; John Gracely, Marion; Jack Haig, Warren; Jack Henry, Westerville; Charles Ireland, Xenia; Walter

THREE OF BUCK CAGE STARS TO MISS CONTESTS

Sattler And Schick Down In Grades; Lynch Leaves To Work For While

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Minus three first string men, Ohio State University's Western Conference basketball team inaugurates the 1939-40 season tonight against Wabash from Indiana. The game will be played in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Captain Bob Lynch and Centers Bill Sattler and John Schick will be out of the lineup for at least the rest of the month. Sattler and Schick collided with scholastic deficiencies and Lynch was forced to leave school temporarily to work.

Consequently, in the starting lineup in the initial test tonight will be three sophomores, Jack McLain at center, Jack Graf at guard and Dick Fisher at forward. Others in the first string lineup were Gil Mickelson at forward and Jack Dawson at guard.

Wabash has lost three games in three tries. But Coach Harold Olsen, taking into consideration his squad's weakened condition, was not over optimistic about the eventual outcome.

Wooster Feared

Too, Olsen was quite worried about Saturday's clinic game with Wooster, Ohio Conference title holders. The Scots possess a well balanced five which can easily upset the Bucks in their present condition. Such a mishap would deflate the Scarlet and Gray men and impair their morale even before they start defending the Western Conference crown they won last winter.

The Bucks, this year, will have to get along without the excellent generalship supplied for the last three years by the now immortal Jimmy Hull. Hull, however, will be around in the guise of assistant coach. So perhaps he can instill much needed pep when the going is tough.

The Scarlet and Gray reserve strength is centered around Tom Kinkade, sophomore football player, and Don Scott, rugged guard who was quarterback of the 1939 Buck football eleven.

Although he tips the scales at more than 210 pounds, Scott carries his weight nicely on a basketball floor. Last year, during the brief periods he saw action, he bottled up some of the sharp shooting opposing forwards. Kinkade, against Otterbein last week, displayed flashes of ability but must become more before he can be relied upon.

Michigan January 6

The Bucks launch their Western Conference season in Ann Arbor against Michigan on January 6. Between now and then they play Wooster, Kentucky, Pittsburgh, Cornell and California. With exception of Kentucky, all pre-conference season tilts are scheduled for the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

ANDERSON HAS TROPHY

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—Dr. Eddie Anderson, of Iowa, selected coach of the year in a nation-wide poll of college coaches, today had the Jacob Ruppert Memorial Trophy in his collection. Nils Kinnick, Iowa's all-America back, and a host of coaches attended the presentation ceremony.

Dick Galleher, Findlay, senior manager of the varsity team, also was given a "W" for his work.

The 23 freshmen recommended for numerals are Carl Beck and Robert Goerge, both of Bellaire; William Berkley, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Ralph Copp and Robert Owen, both of Dayton; John Chupa, Lorain; Richard Drake, Worthington; Ralph Gmeiner, Detroit, Mich.; John Gracely, Marion; Jack Haig, Warren; Jack Henry, Westerville; Charles Ireland, Xenia; Walter

Cupid Adds to Sport List

Andy Farkas and bride

Gene Lillard, Bill and Bride

CUPID adds two more sports celebrities to the 1939 wedding list as Andy Farkas, grid star, and Bill Lillard, baseball player, say "I do." Farkas, backfield ace of the Washington Redskins pro grid club, is shown with the "Mrs." the former Ellen Ryan, in Detroit. Lillard, shortstop for the Athletics, kisses his bride, the former Sally Wright, at Santa Barbara, Cal., as brother Gene, pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, looks on.

DENISON SQUAD TROUNCES FOES FROM GAMBIER

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Denison University's basketball five looked forward to a successful season today after trouncing Kenyon, 56 to 35, in the opening Ohio Conference game for the Granville eagles.

Jack Berno, Kenyon's sophomore center, took scoring honors with five field goals and seven free throws for a total of 17 points. O. Jones forward, paced Denison basketballers with 10 points.

Toledo took on both Defiance and Albion on its home court and wound up with two convincing wins. Defiance was defeated, 51 to 16, and Albion of Michigan, 47 to 41.

Ohio Northern won a non-conference title from Griffin, 55 to 17; Wittenberg trounced Lafayette, 47 to 31, and Washington and Lee edged out Alfred Holbrook, 31 to 27.

BOILERMAKERS ON TOP

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 14—Purdue University's speedy basketball team was back on victory lane today following its smashing 43 to 19 defeat of a fighting University of Detroit quintet last night.

About This And That In Many Sports

Ye janitor has been wondering for the last 24 hours whether Lancaster High School boys and girls who attended the Tiger-Gale cage game Tuesday evening were reprimanded, and how much, for their lack of sportsmanship during the evening. . . . Had the game been played in Circleville there would have been an assembly, and the law would have been administered in no uncertain terms. . . . There was no sportsmanship shown at Lancaster at any time during the games, especially during the varsity contest. . . . When Joe Staely was down after being bumped during an under-basket scrimmage, the Lancaster stands sang a spirited school song. . . . When the handful of Circleville boys and girls, and townspeople present, tried to cheer, they were drowned out by the Lancaster crowds. . . . But the payoff came in the last few minutes of play when both teams were doing their damndest to score points. . . . A crowd of Lancaster fans gathered in the balcony above the Tiger basket and gesticulated, waved hats and arms each time the Red and Black clad boys tried to toss a foul. . . . Finally, after protest by Coach Roy Black, Umpire Earl Young moved a few of the crowd back. . . . If this is sportsmanship, then we want none of it. . . . Lancaster's boys played clean ball, at least as clean as could be expected in a game as hard-fought as that one was. . . . Coach Ray Coleman handled himself as the gentleman that he is, but the boys and girls who make up the school's student body certainly acted as though they were being permitted out of the house after dark for the first time. . . . We're still wondering if anything was done about it. . . .

The less ye janitor can see of any officials from Chillicothe, except one, the better he is going to like all athletic games that he watches. . . . That one is Tom Vernia, Chillicothe football coach who handles himself capably on the hardwood. . . . Last fall at Frankfort, Mechleng, Wiseman and Brothers, all Chillicotheans, put on a lousy exhibition of alleged officiating. . . . A couple of weeks ago, Hatton, another Chillicothean, worked at Pickaway and had to be smuggled away from an irate Monroe crowd. . . . Tuesday night at Lancaster, Earl Young and Mechleng, again, were on hand, and their work was far from satisfactory. . . . There are many Circleville fans who think very little of Young's ethics in working a game in which a team participated that his boys are scheduled to meet. . . .

MISS STATE'S GLAMOUR GAL OKEH AS MASCOT

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Dec. 14—Shirley, just as ugly as could be expected at the tender age of one year, today had received a full mead of praise for the part she played in Mississippi State's 18 to 6 victory in the historic football series with the University of Mississippi.

State's triumph meant that Shirley had made a successful debut. Shirley is a bulldog. She was formally introduced as State's official mascot a few days before the bulldog maroons invaded Oxford. Squatty, bow-legged Shirley, however, was unable to enjoy the occasion to the fullest because she is still mourning at the loss of her uncle Bully.

The late uncle Bully, for several years the Maroon's mascot was buried before the old Miss game, as his niece at State's football team looked on.

Billy Conn Says Most Ring Men Plain 'Hams'

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—Along the big stem today we find... Billy Conn... world's light heavyweight champion... doing his Christmas shopping early... and declaring between purchases that there are only two real fighters of class in the world today... Joe Louis... the heavyweight king... and Pete Scalzo... uncrowned champion of the featherweights. . . .

"All the rest," opines Billy, modestly omitting his own name... are "just ordinary good fighters..." among the "ordinary" mitt slingers he names Ceferin Garcia, middleweight champ. . . . Henry Armstrong, No. 1 welter. . . . and Lou Ambers, top hand among the lightweights. . . . most of the others are a dime a dozen in Billy's book. . . .

And Ed Barrow. . . . Yankee mardomo. . . . thinks the other clubs in the American League will need help from the Yanks. . . . much sooner than the Yanks will need help from them. . . . Ed wouldn't trade Marvin Bruer and Tom Reis. . . . right hand pitchers coming up from his Kansas City farm. . . . even up right now. . . . for half the pitchers in the league. . . .

Syndicate Success
Syndicate baseball wouldn't last ten minutes. . . . but syndicate hockey seems to work out all right. . . . Jim Norris, for instance, owns the Detroit Red Wings. . . . owns the rink used by the Chicago Black Hawks. . . . owns a 10 percent interest in the New York Rangers. . . . and the New York Americans owe him about $30,000. . . . Imagine Phil Wrigley owning the Cubs, the Giants' Polo Grounds, a 10 percent interest in the Reds and having the Phillies owe him $30,000! What a howl the fans would make if that were the case. . . .

Glenn Cunningham. . . . now 30. . . . is training hard. . . . for a record breaking mile. . . . and he'll have plenty of competition from Chuck Fenske, John Borican and Les MacMitchell. . . .

And were you aware that Sylvanus Apps. . . . Toronto center. . . . rated by many the best player in hockey. . . . is also a member of the provincial parliament at Ottawa? . . .

Al Davis is 5 to 2 over Tippy Larkin. . . . Pat Connelley a surprising 2 to 1 over Steve Dudas. . . . and Billy Marquart 9 to 5 over Lew Jenkins. . . . for their bouts in the garden manana. . . .

Fordham's football team drew a trophy and a dinner at Jack Dempsey's last yawning. . . . for being the best dressed team seen in New York this year. . . . their gold silk panties, helmets and lettering plus maroon jerseys. . . . setting the femmes afire. . . .

Hockey Rule Tight

Jumping over the boards at hockey games hereafter will carry a $25 plaster for players, $50 for coaches and $100 for managers. . . . and Red Rutton. . . . manager-coach of the American. . . . wonders if this new rule wasn't made for his benefit. . . . and wants to know if it will cost him $150 to break it. . . . And why isn't Eleanor Sears. . . . who has played every game under the sun. . . . the most remarkable athlete in the country today. . . . the Boston woman must be in her 50's. . . . and hear we find her battling for a title at squash racquets.

'COAL BUGGIES'

ROME.—With strict gasoline rationing in effect throughout the country. Italian chemists are experimenting with a new type of "super-charcoal" to be used in cars equipped with wood burning apparatus as a substitute for gasoline power. The new product is chemically treated to release additional carbonic oxide from the burning charcoal, which is used as the motive power.

A STATEMENT

The report or impression that I have retired from the Life Insurance business is incorrect.

This impression was probably gained from the fact the company recently appointed an additional agent in this county. In fact, I have become a Senior Nylie.

I expect to serve my Policyholders and the Public in the same manner in the future as in the past.

WHEAT, CORN AND SOYBEAN PRICES CONTINUE STRONG UPWARD MOVEMENT

EUROPEAN WAR, DROUGHT CITED FOR BIG CLIMB

Golden Grain Goes To 98 Cents At Circleville Elevators

SOYBEANS PASS DOLLAR

Farmers May Pay Off Loans With Government, One Operator Says

A steady increase in prices offered for wheat, corn and soybeans continued Thursday to interest farmers of Pickaway and other Central Ohio counties, but questioning of elevator operators and grain men failed to reveal the definite cause for the trend that has been upward in the last two months.

The most prevalent answer to the question: "Why the continued gain in the grain price?" brought the response that the European wars might be the most probable causes for the climb. One grain dealer declared that the wars had caused all commodities to go up in the last month or so, and that the prices could be expected to be strong as long as the danger of general warfare continues.

Another advanced the suggestion that widespread drought conditions in the Southwest where wheat has not yet germinated properly, and in Argentina where a short crop is reported, might have sent the wheat price higher with corn moving up in sympathy with that trend. No explanation was found for the fact that soybeans had gone higher, too, other than the fact that the war fear might have affected the trend. Another dealer said that about 20 percent of the nation's soybean crop had been exported this year.

Dust Swirls in West
Dust storms have continued to swirl through the Southwest, emphasizing the serious lack of moisture.

Wheat brought a 98 cent cash offer Wednesday and Thursday on the Circleville market, four cents above Tuesday's bid and 20 cents above the figure quoted on October 7, 14 cents above November 7's offer, and six cents above the price offered on December 7, just a week ago.

Corn continued to show strength, yellow corn going to 51 cents, up two over Tuesday and up six over the November 7 figure. White corn continued its trend upward approaching 57 Wednesday afternoon, up two cents from Tuesday.

Soybeans Pass Dollar

The soybean crop went to $1.02 Wednesday, 30 cents above the October 7 date, 18 above November 7, and five above December 7.

One grain dealer pointed out that farmers who have wheat stored under government loans may pay off their loans if they wish and make a profit. The wheat was loaned at 72 cents a bushel, and after storage, interest and handling charges are deducted the farmers may still make a decided profit, the dealer declared. He said that he knew of several counties who had already taken that step.

During the first World war the British government drafted 500 cats and sent them into the trenches to give warning of impending gas attacks, as cats are more sensitive to poisonous odors than man.

BERGEN'S FOURTH YEAR

There will be just cause for a celebration Sunday for that night Edgar Bergen starts his fourth year in radio; Don Ameche returns from a vacation; and that exceptional English actress, Geraldine Fitzgerald, makes her first guest appearance on the program. Bergen and McCarthy, Donald Dickson, Dorothy Lamour, and Robert Armstrong's orchestra will all be heard in the broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m.

Just a little more than four Christmases ago a shy ventriloquist walked hesitantly into the Vallee studio with a well-battered suitcase in hand. The second he pulled McCarthy out of the bag his own personality was backed off the boards. Charlie has been taking the bows through two-hundred and six broadcasts manipulated by the young man who told Vallee he couldn't possibly think of a new Edgar Bergen's many listeners will be glad to hear him next Sunday from Hollywood's Radio City instead of from the hospital. His last broadcast was "piped" into the studio from St. Vincent's Hospital.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATED

All the troubles of the Barbour clan will be forgotten on the Christmas broadcast Thursday, December 21, when "One Man's Family" get together to display the spirit of the season.

The title of the chapter of the serial over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. is, "Christmas Eve in the Barbour Home." After the youngsters are tucked in bed the Barbours gather in the living room to have their traditional celebration.

Father Barbour, Mother Barbour, Paul, Clifford, Captain Nicholas Lacey and his wife Claudia, Jack and Betty will all be there. They'll exchange gifts and spend most of the night trimming the giant tree that annually adorns the living-room.

David Ross, the "Golden-voiced" announcer on the Tommy Riggs program, is compiling a collection of poems recited over the air in the last eight years for release in book and record form.

Library Book Truck Not Operating in Holidays

The book truck of the Public Library will not be in operation from Thursday, December 21, until January 2.

Daniel Pfoutz, librarian, announced Thursday that the truck will visit Muhlenberg Township School, Darbyville, Darby Township School and Derby on Thursday, December 21. The trip on January 2 will include New Holland School and village.

Pickaway County schools close for the Christmas holidays on December 22 and reopen January 2. Circleville schools close Tuesday, December 19, at 3:30 p. m. and reopen January 2. The library will be closed on Christmas and New Year's Day.

For the benefit of persons who have lost their library schedules, Mr. Pfoutz announced the schedule to be followed during the remainder of the school year. The truck makes routine trips throughout the county visiting and Monroe Township School; January 9, South Bloomfield School and village; January 10, Walnut Township School and Washington Township School; January 11, Wayne Township School, Duvall School and village and Madison Township School; January 12, Pickaway Township School, Salter Creek Township School and Tarlton School and village, and January 14, Atlanta School and village. The above schedule will be followed throughout the school year. The book truck is in charge of Miss Frances Alderson, recently appointed book truck librarian. She replaces Mr. Pfoutz, named chief librarian following the retirement of Miss Mary Wilder.
